Eisenhower Faced With Aid Threat

President May Use Cash Pressure to Speed Up Agreement on West European Army

Washington, June 22 (AP)—President Eisenhower probably will have to decide this week whether he wants to put heavy financial pressure on America's allies to speed agreement on a west European army.

The House last week voted to withhold by law about a billion dollars in foreign aid funds until European Defense Community (EDC) treaties are ratified. Yesterday, Sen. Taft (R.-Ohio) suggested a compromise which would give the President discretionary authority to do the same thing.

Legislative leaders may find out at a White House conference Wednesday whether the President believes such a financial threat to west European nations would be wise.

Sees Ratification

The EDC treaties, ratified so far only by Western Germany, would call up 100,000 men from six nations for service in a unified army.

Livingston T. Merchant, assistant secretary of state, told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in testimony on the foreign aid bill he believes "the logic of events" will bring ratification of the EDC treaties also by France, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Merchant said:

"We must not, in my judgment, become impatient and make the passage of EDC and ratification by a certain date a condition precedent for aid . . ."

The testimony of Merchant and other officials, taken behind closed doors by the committee, was made public over the weekend.

Says Reds 'Pulling Back"

In it Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, was disclosed to have told senators he believes Russia is "pulling back" in the cold war. Bradley said the Soviets fear increased U. S. military strength and need time to consolidate their position at home.

Bradley said the U. S. already is stockpiling equipment and supplies in West Germany for the arming of German divisions if they are ever created.

The hearing transcript included Taft's statement that it is "ridiculous" to claim the U. S. is saving money by financing the manufacture of fighter planes in Britain and France.

The Senate Republican leader said funds those countries receive under the offshore purchases program represent economic aid which he asserted will be used "for socialistic purposes in England and for something else in France."

In the fiscal year ending June 30, such contracts reported let total 22 million dollars worth of

Truck Driver Dies In Accident; Two Passengers Injured

Tractor-Trailer Goes Over Embankment Near Marlborough; No Verdict Given

Milton Harold Bullett, 40, truck driver of Watervliet, was killed and his two passengers were injured when a tractor trailer overturned down an embankment along Route 9W near Marlborough about 4:30 a. m. today.

The injured, taken to St. Luke's Hospital in Newburgh, were identified by state police as George Pickett, 20, of 12 Clinton street, Albany, and Dean Berry Reed, 12, of Route 1, Waterford. Neither was considered to be in critical condition, although physicians at the hospital had not been able to make a general condition report this morning.

Troopers said Pickett apparently suffered lacerations of left arm and scalp, possible skull, pelvis and shoulder fractures. Reed's apparent injuries were listed as a fractured left arm and various lacerations.

Bullett's body was removed to the Tuthill Funeral Home in Marlborough, and an autopsy was ordered by Coroner Michael A. Galietta to be performed today by Dr. Herbert Derman of Kingston. The coroner's verdict is being held up pending results of the autopsy.

Bullett's home address was listed by troopers and the coroner as 360 Broadway, Watervliet. He was driving a tractor owned by William Diedrick, 10 Hall street, Albany, hauling a trailer owned by Maislin Brothers of Montreal.

The tractor portion of the vehicle was "totally demolished," and the trailer received "some damage," according to the report of Troopers Elliott Johnson and Nicholas Leecakes, who investigated from the Highland state police station.

Troopers said the trailer, loaded with sewing machines, apparently was traveling south down Rosoff's hill just north of the village of Marlborough when it failed to negotiate a curve, ran off the east side of the highway, plunged down a seven-foot embankment and turned completely over. There were no witnesses other than the deceased driver and two injured passengers.

Traffic on Route 9W was blocked this morning while the vehicle was being pulled from the ditch and towed away. Deputy Sheriff James Marano of Marlborough assisted troopers at the scene.

Sabotage Hits Uranium Mines In East Germany

Churchill Raps Rhee Treachery

London, June 22 (AP) — Prime Minister Churchill told a cheering House of Commons today "we have not committed ourselves in any way to go forward and conquer the whole area of Korea and place it under the authority of Mr. Syngman Rhee."

At the same time, the prime minister disclosed Britain had sent a stiff note to Rhee denouncing his "treacherous action."

Churchill said the South Korean president's release of thousands of anti-Communist prisoners of war had created a situation "full of danger."

Says Matter Serious

Churchill told the House "the matter is obviously very serious. We can all see the casting away of the fruits of three years of fighting."

He said the U. S. had a "very heavy burden to bear" in the guarding of the prisoners, explaining that the U. S. had moved "about 30,000 troops from guarding prisoners to the holding of the front."

The British protest note to Rhee, delivered by the British Minister in South Korea today, told him:

Action Is Condemned

"As a member of the UN whose military forces are participating in the Korea action Her Majesty's government strongly condemn this treacherous violation of the authority of the UN command to which the government of Korea had agreed in 1950.

"Moreover, Her Majesty's government understand that during recent weeks the government of the Republic of Korea have actually reaffirmed this position by assurances to the UN Command that no unilateral action of this kind would be taken by them."

Gains in Jeopardy

Churchill said the note warned: "Unless there is a government in the Republic of Korea which will cooperate loyally with the United Nations Command, the security and welfare of its people, as well as all the gains which have been made by the sacrifice of so many, including the gallant Republic of Korea army, will be jeopardized."

Churchill told the House the UN Command was now "confronted with grave and serious problems."

The prime minister declared "nothing could be further from the truth than to allege, as has been done, (by the Communists) that the UN Command connived at these happenings."

He reported that out of about 33,000 North Korean prisoners who would have been placed in the custody of the neutral nations repatriation commission once an armistice had been signed only 8,000 to 9,000 "remain in the camps, which are now under U. S. guard."

Hydrant Is Damaged

A limb, which fell from a tree near the incinerator on Wilbur avenue Saturday night damaged a fire hydrant. Police were notified at 11:03 p. m., Saturday and Officers William Norton and Kenneth Gaffney reported that the one limb had fallen and a larger one was still hanging from the tree. The public works, fire and water departments were notified to make repairs.

Violence Goes On Elsewhere; West Is Blamed by Red Party

Berlin, June 22 (AP)—Communist East Germany admitted today sabotage had occurred in the Soviet-managed uranium mines and violence continued elsewhere against the Red puppet regime.

The Communist party leadership hurled new face-saving charges that western agents had parachuted into East Germany to spread havoc after the workers' revolt flared last Wednesday. U.S. officials derided the accusations as fantastic.

ADN, the Soviet-controlled German news agency, confirmed reports that the anti-Red mutiny had struck in the Saxony uranium fields which have been exploited by the Russians since 1947 in the atomic weapons race.

No Estimate Given

No estimate of damage was given. A West Berlin newspaper, Telegraf, reported yesterday that 100,000 Germans went on strike Thursday in the Saxony uranium mines after a Soviet firing squad executed 12 anti-Red demonstrators. The strikers represented more than one-third of the men in the mines.

A statement by the Socialist Unity (Communist) party's central committee said a "great number" of the parachutists had been captured, but admitted that in the sixth day of martial law carried on by Russian troops and armor, "quiet is not yet entirely secured."

From Bonn, meanwhile, West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer telegraphed President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Churchill and Rene Mayer, head of the caretaker French government, asking them to do all they could to free East Germany by securing unification of the divided country.

Adenauer said only with a unified Germany governed by a freely-elected all-German government could enduring peace be brought to Europe.

Attest to Strikes

As reports flew that the Russians were about to throw out the satellite East German government of Prime Minister Otto Grotewohl, the Socialist Party declaration attested to the still continuing strikes with frantic appeals to the 18 million captive East Germans to go back to work.

Throwing off restraint, the statement made clear the magnitude of the workers' rebellion—the most gigantic rebuff from a captive civilian population in the history of Moscow-directed communism.

The "enemy," the Communists said, incited "millions" of East Germans to take to the streets in wild disorder and "threatened the security and lives of workers of the (East) German democratic republic."

The "Fascist agents," also planned to incite farmers to destroy their crops, the party said.

Reds Make Claims

The Reds said the parachutists—agents of "American warmakers and their West German tolls"—landed in Saxony and Thuringia after the revolt broke out last Wednesday. The western allies already have denied in the strongest terms that they had anything to do with the rebellion.

The Communists said some western "agents" equipped with weapons and radio sets had been captured on the superhighway, the Autobahn, between Berlin and Leipzig. The statement, however, did not elaborate the number, nationality or fate of those assertedly captured.

Amnesty Is Promised

The party promised something like a general amnesty to all strikers who would return to work. It continued to spread thick its promises to EHT workers—lower prices, less work, better living standards, fewer repressive measures, aid for private enterprise and a continued "drive" for German unity. The old, the infirm and the widows were promised higher pensions.

Though 30 divisions of Russian steel still ringed and held the east zone, reports filtered through of hundreds of dead and enormous property damage.

Thousands of Red secret police continued raids on homes of sus-

Remarks Indicate That Rhee Government Will Check With UN on Any Steps

Seoul, June 22 (AP)—Gen. Mark Clark, UN commander, conferred today with President Syngman Rhee, then announced he can sign an armistice without South Korean approval, but he said doing so would "depend upon instructions from my government."

"I am authorized at the present time to sign the armistice which has been drawn up," he told newsmen after what was apparently a showdown with the rebellious Rhee.

"I am not trying to be overly optimistic. There are many problems. I feel somewhat more encouraged; more hopeful," he added.

Clark said he could not reveal why he was encouraged.

What effect the talk might have on an armistice was not apparent.

Still Are Problems

Although Clark indicated the truce document was virtually complete, he said there still are problems and added, "the truce time table is more or less up to the Communists." He said a truce could be completed promptly "if the Reds desire it."

Clark's comments indicated the free-swinging South Korean government would check with the UN command before taking any more such lone actions as its single-handed release of 27,000 anti-Red Korean prisoners since Wednesday night.

Rhee's action froze the armistice talks on the edge of signing and left the UNC a plump target for the Reds, who demanded recapture of the prisoners and UN control of South Korea if the allies wanted an armistice.

No Remorse Shown

South Korea showed no remorse or inclination to change its stand against any truce which would leave Korea divided despite a burning allied anger. Its prime minister insisted just before the Clark-Rhee meeting that South Korea gave the allies command of its troops and could just as easily take them off the battle front.

In answer, Clark told the newsmen:

"That (withdrawal) has been discussed not only by me with President Rhee but by Ambassador (Ellis O.) Briggs with him and there always has been the understanding that if he, Rhee, thought the time had come to consider such a disastrous action that he would discuss it with me before he came to that conclusion. That time has not come, in my opinion."

However, Clark made it clear that he feels he is boss of all UN forces—including the 16 ROK divisions. He said there is no question that the ROK army is "under my command."

Asked if he thinks the ROK troops loyal, Clark replied with an emphatic "yes."

Authorized to Sign

He was asked if he would sign an armistice without advance approval by Rhee. He told newsmen the armistice is between the UN commander and the Red Chinese-North Korean command, and said:

Weather Deaths Placed At 125; Most of U.S. Broils

Many Heat Records for June Are Established —Violent Storms Also Take Toll

(By The Associated Press)

Summer officially arrived Sunday, ushered in by a heat wave that entered its fourth day today and which set many June temperature records.

Scarcely any section failed to feel the blows, one way or another, of the dawning summer. It was attended by sudden, violent and drenching storms, water shortages, threat of drouth and death—at least 125 persons died of causes attributable to the weather.

It began Friday when spreading heat ran temperatures up to Ft. Smith, Ark.'s June record of 105, Laredo, Tex.'s 107 and Ashland, Neb.'s 108 peak. Storms generated by the day's stifling heat and humidity wreaked minor tornado damage in Nebraska and wind damage in Iowa.

Chicago Has Record

Saturday was worse. Chicago, which had a date record for the day before, had its hottest June day on record—104.2. A 60-year record was set at Albany, N. Y., and Louisville, Ky. There was a 107-degree temperature in Arkansas, 105 at Oklahoma City, 103 at St. Louis, 101 at Terre Haute, Ind.

The shifting edge of the hot air blanket let cooling breezes into Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa and Indiana Sunday, but the east and south remained well covered at summer's official beginning at noon, and the great plains warmed up again.

The mercury ran up to 105 at Russell and Dodge City, Kan. A 20-year June heat record was equalled by Rochester, N. Y.'s 100. New June marks around 100 were set at four Tennessee cities—Memphis, Chattanooga, Knoxville and Nashville.

Texas Fries Above 100

In the broiling southwest, Texas had 100-degree readings nearly everywhere, up to Abilene and Fort Worth's 105; it was 110 at Blythe, Calif., Yuma, Ariz., and Presidio, Tex. Gila Bend, Ariz., topped the list with 112.

Several Texas cities rationed water. So did some Chicago suburbs.

Three suburbs of Springfield, Illinois' capital, were completely without water. A Springfield official said their connecting mains were too small to handle the demand.

A drouth threatened vegetable and tobacco crops in Connecticut. An agricultural agent said the situation would become critical in another week.

Wind, Hail in Kansas

Wind and hail flailed Wichita, Kan. Roofs were torn loose, walls and windows blown in by gusts ranging up to 100 miles an hour. One person was killed, several others injured.

Storm damage to crops and communications was reported in Tennessee.

At least 14 persons died of heat prostration and 103 were drowned seeking relief in pools, rivers and lakes.

Clear skies over most of the country west and south of the Great Lakes and prevalance of early morning temperatures in the high 70s in the east indicated the heat wave is not yet broken by the scattered showers and thunderstorms.

Slayer of Woman Sought

Denver, June 22 (AP)—The mutilated body of an unidentified young woman lay unclaimed in the morgue today as officers sought the slayer who stuffed her blanket-wrapped body into an old trunk and dumped it in the river. The body, a six-inch statue of Christ on top under the tattered quilt, was found Saturday in shallow water off the Platte river, nine miles north of here, by an irrigation ditch rider.

Red Hook Youth, 19, Dies in Arkansas Heat

Bentonville, Ark., June 22 (AP)—A New York youth was one of three persons who died Friday and Saturday as a result of Arkansas' 100-degree-plus heat.

John Quincy Martin Jr., 19, Red Hook, N. Y., died in a Bentonville hospital late Friday. He suffered a heat stroke while traveling with his parents.

His father is rector of Christ Episcopal Church at Red Hook and a lieutenant commander in the navy chaplain corps.

Heavy Rains Hit Portions of County

New Heat Marks Are Set Saturday With 100 Degrees in City

The mythical weather gods of the Catskills and the Shawangunks were in a playful mood yesterday as summer officially arrived.

They sent down torrents of rain in widely separated spots of the county, and they left other spots completely dry. There were electrical storms playing about the clouds in various places, and at least one house was struck by lightning. Temperatures soared to the 100 degree mark during the weekend.

Rainfall Varies

Rainfall readings, where they were available, varied considerably, even within comparatively short distances.

At the Blue Mountain reservoir in the Saugerties water system, a total rainfall of 1.55 inches was recorded on Sunday. At Kingston's reservoir at Cooper Lake the total for the day stood at .44 inches. And at Brown Station on the Ashokan Reservoir, New York's Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity reported a rainfall of only .03 inches in the 24 hour period ended at 8 a. m. today, and no rainfall in the previous 24 hours. In the city of Kingston, there was no rain.

Firemen Are Called

The Woodstock Fire Department was called at 11 a. m. Sunday, during a storm, to the house of Eugenie McEvoy in that village, where a direct strike by a bolt of lightning shorted her refrigerator, Fire Chief George Haythorne reported. There was no damage except to the refrigerator and wiring, he said.

In Woodstock, it was reported, there were showers for about an hour. Limbs were reported downed by wind in the Willow section.

Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation reported two lightning hits in the Ruby area causing transformer fuses to blow, and a burned out transformer in the Sawkill area, caused by an overload.

A new high temperature record for the date was set in Kingston on Saturday, according to records kept by the City Engineer's Department. A high of 100 degrees on that day was recorded. Previous high for a June 20 was in 1943, when the thermometer reached 97 degrees. On Sunday, the same department reported a

Torrid Weather Is Blamed for Loss of 14 Lives in State

Some Relief Is Expected Today After Two-Day Heat Wave Ushering in Summer

Albany, June 22 (AP)—Sweltering New Yorkers today looked for relief from a two-day heat wave that ushered in the summer with a record-shattering scorcher and was blamed directly and indirectly for the loss of 14 lives.

Three persons were killed by lightning, two died of heat prostration, and nine were drowned. Temperatures shot into the middle and high 90s, and in one city the mercury touched 100.

The weather bureau predicted cooler air would drop temperatures to the 80s across most of New York today.

Telegraph communications between Buffalo and Elmira were severed last night by a severe wind and thunderstorm in the Bath area. Falling trees knocked down about 25 Western Union wires.

Killed by Lightning

When a freak storm lashed the eastern section of the Bronx yesterday, Estelle Siegel, 36, Joseph Aronica, 26, and George Sabel, 25, all of the Bronx, were killed by lightning. Seven other persons were injured by bolts.

Drowned while swimming yesterday were Dorothy Holt, 9, at Coney Island, and Paula Mary Barkauskas, 3, of Rome, in Lake Delra. Two men died the same way on Saturday—William Blaha, 19, of Rockaway, in Lake Osiris, near Walden, and Richard Przewlocki in a reservoir near Syracuse.

Others Drowned

Also drowned over the weekend were:

Lyle M. Bartomb, 15, of Burke, who dove into Meacham Lake to recover a bailing bucket, Early Watson, 32, of Oneida, who fell into the state Barge Canal, and Kenneth Longley, 13, of Remsen, who fell from a log into Hickley Lake. Joshua Behan, 4, was found drowned in Shinnecock Canal at Hampton Bay.

Rose Marie Savino, 9, of Troy was found drowned in Poestenkill near Troy this morning. She had been missing since Saturday.

The 100-degree temperature was recorded yesterday at Rochester. It was 99 at Elmira for the second day in a row, and 98 in Utica and Syracuse.

The record for the date was

Spies Are Buried Amid Angry Blasts at Top U.S. Officials

New York, June 22 (AP)—Funeral services for Julius and Ethel Rosenberg erupted yesterday into tearful praise of the electrocuted atom spies and angry attacks on U. S. government officials.

Defense Attorney Emanuel Bloch declared in a funeral oration that the executions were "an act of cold, deliberate murder."

He said he placed "the murder of the Rosenbergs at the door of President Eisenhower, Atty.-Gen. Brownell and (FBI director) J. Edgar Hoover."

Bloch praised the New York city couple—who died Friday night in the electric chair at Song Sing Prison—for what he called their "courage and heroism."

Semi-orthodox Jewish services were held for the Rosenbergs at a Brooklyn funeral home chapel. About 500 mourners jammed the chapel, and a crowd estimated by police at 10,000 milled around outside in 93-degree heat.

The chapel filled with hisses and murmurs of "no" when Rabbi Abraham Cronback said, "Let us give them (the prosecutors) credit for this: That they did what they thought was right."

Cronbach, professor emeritus of the Hebrew Union College of Cincinnati, Ohio, presided over the service. He was one of a delegation of four clergymen who urged President Eisenhower last week to commute the Rosenbergs' sentences to life imprisonment.

The rabbi told his protesting audience not to be vindictive, even though the execution "broke our hearts." He continued:

"We must demonstrate that we are among those most loyal to America. We must not permit any ground for accusations of remission in our American citizenship. We gain when America gains and we lose when America loses."

In his attack on government leaders, Bloch declared:

"The people should know that America is living under the heel of a military dictator garbed in civilian attire. These people . . . have the souls of murderers."

Bloch was attorney for the Rosenbergs at the trial in which they were convicted of conspiring to pass U. S. atomic secrets to Soviet Russia. For more than two years he led the court fight to have their death sentence set aside.

A procession of more than 300 automobiles followed the hearses to Wellwood Cemetery on Long Island. At the graveside the Rev.

Dispute Ended on Delaware River Water Use by Gotham

New York, June 22 (AP)—New York city, Pennsylvania and New Jersey have reached a compromise agreement concerning the city's use of water from the upper Delaware river basin.

The formula was announced yesterday by Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri and Irving V. A. Huie, president of the city Board of Water Supply.

A key point in the compromise is the city's promise to maintain the flow of the Delaware at stated levels during dry summer and fall months. This would be done by opening the gates of city reservoirs and replacing river water stored during flush periods.

During the years-long dispute over Delaware water diversion, New Jersey and Pennsylvania have expressed fears the city would not leave enough water in the lower river for expanding domestic and industrial needs.

Yesterday's announcement said New Jersey and Pennsylvania have dropped their opposition to the city's tapping of the upper Delaware.

Water experts hope the agreement will help speed completion of a vast reservoir construction

Akron Tire Manufacturers Expect Big Year in Spite of Inventory

New York, June 22 (AP)—Detroit's optimism is spreading to Akron.

The auto industry, setting a production record in the first half of this year, is boosting its goals for the rest of 1953.

And some in the tire industry—insisting they're undisturbed that stocks of unsold tires are one-fourth larger than a year ago—are raising 1953 sales estimates by three million more passenger car casings.

Counting in truck tires, many in the industry look for 100 million tires to be sold this year.

B. F. Goodrich spokesmen say passenger car tire sales this year should run six million more than last year. The auto industry's spurt gets most of the credit.

Eisenhower Faced With Aid Threat

President May Use Cash Pressure to Speed Up Agreement on West European Army

Washington, June 22 (AP)—President Eisenhower probably will have to decide this week whether he wants to put heavy financial pressure on America's allies to speed agreement on a west European army.

The House last week voted to withhold by law about a billion dollars in foreign aid funds until European Defense Community (EDC) treaties are ratified. Yesterday, Sen. Taft (R.-Ohio) suggested a compromise which would give the President discretionary authority to do the same thing.

Legislative leaders may find out at a White House conference Wednesday whether the President believes such a financial threat to west European nations would be wise.

Sees Ratification

The EDC treaties, ratified so far only by Western Germany, would call up 100,000 men from six nations for service in a unified army.

Livingston T. Merchant, assistant secretary of state, told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in testimony on the foreign aid bill he believes "the logic of events" will bring ratification of the EDC treaties also by France, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Merchant said:

"We must not, in my judgment, become impatient and make the passage of EDC and ratification by a certain date a condition precedent for aid . . ."

The testimony of Merchant and other officials, taken behind closed doors by the committee, was made public over the weekend.

Says Reds 'Pulling Back"

In it Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, was disclosed to have told senators he believes Russia is "pulling back" in the cold war. Bradley said the Soviets fear increased U. S. military strength and need time to consolidate their position at home.

Bradley said the U. S. already is stockpiling equipment and supplies in West Germany for the arming of German divisions if they are ever created.

The hearing transcript included Taft's statement that it is "ridiculous" to claim the U. S. is saving money by financing the manufacture of fighter planes in Britain and France.

The Senate Republican leader said funds those countries receive under the offshore purchases program represent economic aid which he asserted will be used "for socialistic purposes in England and for something else in France."

In the fiscal year ending June 30, such contracts reported let total 22 million dollars worth of

Truck Driver Dies In Accident; Two Passengers Injured

Tractor-Trailer Goes Over Embankment Near Marlborough; No Verdict Given

Milton Harold Bullett, 40, truck driver of Watervliet, was killed and his two passengers were injured when a tractor trailer overturned down an embankment along Route 9W near Marlborough about 4:30 a. m. today.

The injured, taken to St. Luke's Hospital in Newburgh, were identified by state police as George Pickett, 20, of 12 Clinton street, Albany, and Dean Berry Reed, 12, of Route 1, Waterford. Neither was considered to be in critical condition, although physicians at the hospital had not been able to make a general condition report this morning.

Troopers said Pickett apparently suffered lacerations of left arm and scalp, possible skull, pelvis and shoulder fractures. Reed's apparent injuries were listed as a fractured left arm and various lacerations.

Bullett's body was removed to the Tuthill Funeral Home in Marlborough, and an autopsy was ordered by Coroner Michael A. Galietta to be performed today by Dr. Herbert Derman of Kingston. The coroner's verdict is being held up pending results of the autopsy.

Bullett's home address was listed by troopers and the coroner as 360 Broadway, Watervliet. He was driving a tractor owned by William Diedrick, 10 Hall street, Albany, hauling a trailer owned by Maislin Brothers of Montreal.

The tractor portion of the vehicle was "totally demolished," and the trailer received "some damage," according to the report of Troopers Elliott Johnson and Nicholas Leecakes, who investigated from the Highland state police station.

Troopers said the trailer, loaded with sewing machines, apparently was traveling south down Rosoff's hill just north of the village of Marlborough when it failed to negotiate a curve, ran off the east side of the highway, plunged down a seven-foot embankment and turned completely over. There were no witnesses other than the deceased driver and two injured passengers.

Traffic on Route 9W was blocked this morning while the vehicle was being pulled from the ditch and towed away. Deputy Sheriff James Marano of Marlborough assisted troopers at the scene.

Sabotage Hits Uranium Mines In East Germany

Violence Goes On Elsewhere; West Is Blamed by Red Party

Berlin, June 22 (AP)—Communist East Germany admitted today sabotage had occurred in the Soviet-managed uranium mines and violence continued elsewhere against the Red puppet regime.

The Communist party leadership hurled new face-saving charges that western agents had parachuted into East Germany to spread havoc after the workers' revolt flared last Wednesday. U.S. officials derided the accusations as fantastic.

ADN, the Soviet-controlled German news agency, confirmed reports that the anti-Red mutiny had struck in the Saxony uranium fields which have been exploited by the Russians since 1947 in the atomic weapons race.

No Estimate Given

No estimate of damage was given. A West Berlin newspaper, Telegraf, reported yesterday that 100,000 Germans went on strike Thursday in the Saxony uranium mines after a Soviet firing squad executed 12 anti-Red demonstrators. The strikers represented more than one-third of the men in the mines.

A statement by the Socialist Unity (Communist) party's central committee said a "great number" of the parachutists had been captured, but admitted that in the sixth day of martial law carried on by Russian troops and armor, "quiet is not yet entirely secured."

From Bonn, meanwhile, West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer telegraphed President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Churchill and Rene Mayer, head of the caretaker French government, asking them to do all they could to free East Germany by securing unification of the divided country.

Adenauer said only with a unified Germany governed by a freely-elected all-German government could enduring peace be brought to Europe.

Attest to Strikes

As reports flew that the Russians were about to throw out the satellite East German government of Prime Minister Otto Grotewohl, the Socialist Party declaration attested to the still continuing strikes with frantic appeals to the 18 million captive East Germans to go back to work.

Throwing off restraint, the statement made clear the magnitude of the workers' rebellion—the most gigantic rebuff from a captive civilian population in the history of Moscow-directed communism.

The "enemy," the Communists said, incited "millions" of East Germans to take to the streets in wild disorder and "threatened the security and lives of workers of the (East) German democratic republic."

The "Fascist agents," also planned to incite farmers to destroy their crops, the party said.

Reds Make Claims

The Reds said the parachutists—agents of "American warmakers and their West German tolls"—landed in Saxony and Thuringia after the revolt broke out last Wednesday. The western allies already have denied in the strongest terms that they had anything to do with the rebellion.

The Communists said some western "agents" equipped with weapons and radio sets had been captured on the superhighway, the Autobahn, between Berlin and Leipzig. The statement, however, did not elaborate the number, nationality or fate of those assertedly captured.

Amnesty Is Promised

The party promised something like a general amnesty to all strikers who would return to work. It continued to spread thick its promises to EHT workers—lower prices, less work, better living standards, fewer repressive measures, aid for private enterprise and a continued "drive" for German unity. The old, the infirm and the widows were promised higher pensions.

Though 30 divisions of Russian steel still ringed and held the east zone, reports filtered through of hundreds of dead and enormous property damage.

Churchill Raps Rhee Treachery

London, June 22 (AP) — Prime Minister Churchill told a cheering House of Commons today "we have not committed ourselves in any way to go forward and conquer the whole area of Korea and place it under the authority of Mr. Syngman Rhee."

At the same time, the prime minister disclosed Britain had sent a stiff note to Rhee denouncing his "treacherous action."

Churchill said the South Korean president's release of thousands of anti-Communist prisoners of war had created a situation "full of danger."

Says Matter Serious

Churchill told the House "the matter is obviously very serious. We can all see the casting away of the fruits of three years of fighting."

He said the U. S. had a "very heavy burden to bear" in the guarding of the prisoners, explaining that the U. S. had moved "about 30,000 troops from guarding prisoners to the holding of the front."

The British protest note to Rhee, delivered by the British Minister in South Korea today, told him:

Action Is Condemned

"As a member of the UN whose military forces are participating in the Korea action Her Majesty's government strongly condemn this treacherous violation of the authority of the UN command to which the government of Korea had agreed in 1950.

"Moreover, Her Majesty's government understand that during recent weeks the government of the Republic of Korea have actually reaffirmed this position by assurances to the UN Command that no unilateral action of this kind would be taken by them."

Gains in Jeopardy

Churchill said the note warned: "Unless there is a government in the Republic of Korea which will cooperate loyally with the United Nations Command, the security and welfare of its people, as well as all the gains which have been made by the sacrifice of so many, including the gallant Republic of Korea army, will be jeopardized."

Churchill told the House the UN Command was now "confronted with grave and serious problems."

The prime minister declared "nothing could be further from the truth than to allege, as has been done, (by the Communists) that the UN Command connived at these happenings."

He reported that out of about 33,000 North Korean prisoners who would have been placed in the custody of the neutral nations repatriation commission once an armistice had been signed only 8,000 to 9,000 "remain in the camps, which are now under U. S. guard."

Hydrant Is Damaged

A limb, which fell from a tree near the incinerator on Wilbur avenue Saturday night damaged a fire hydrant. Police were notified at 11:03 p. m., Saturday and Officers William Norton and Kenneth Gaffney reported that the one limb had fallen and a larger one was still hanging from the tree. The public works, fire and water departments were notified to make repairs.

Refuses Any Reason for Statement

Remarks Indicate That Rhee Government Will Check With UN on Any Steps

Seoul, June 22 (AP)—Gen. Mark Clark, UN commander, conferred today with President Syngman Rhee, then announced he can sign an armistice without South Korean approval, but he said doing so would "depend upon instructions from my government."

"I am authorized at the present time to sign the armistice which has been drawn up," he told newsmen after what was apparently a showdown with the rebellious Rhee.

"I am not trying to be overly optimistic. There are many problems. I feel somewhat more encouraged; more hopeful," he added.

Clark said he could not reveal why he was encouraged.

What effect the talk might have on an armistice was not apparent.

Still Are Problems

Although Clark indicated the truce document was virtually complete, he said there still are problems and added, "the truce time table is more or less up to the Communists." He said a truce could be completed promptly "if the Reds desire it."

Clark's comments indicated the free-swinging South Korean government would check with the UN command before taking any more such lone actions as its single-handed release of 27,000 anti-Red Korean prisoners since Wednesday night.

Rhee's action froze the armistice talks on the edge of signing and left the UNC a plump target for the Reds, who demanded recapture of the prisoners and UN control of South Korea if the allies wanted an armistice.

No Remorse Shown

South Korea showed no remorse or inclination to change its stand against any truce which would leave Korea divided despite a burning allied anger. Its prime minister insisted just before the Clark-Rhee meeting that South Korea gave the allies command of its troops and could just as easily take them off the battle front.

In answer, Clark told the newsmen:

"That (withdrawal) has been discussed not only by me with President Rhee but by Ambassador (Ellis O.) Briggs with him and there always has been the understanding that if he, Rhee, thought the time had come to consider such a disastrous action that he would discuss it with me before he came to that conclusion. That time has not come, in my opinion."

However, Clark made it clear that he feels he is boss of all UN forces—including the 16 ROK divisions. He said there is no question that the ROK army is "under my command."

Asked if he thinks the ROK troops loyal, Clark replied with an emphatic "yes."

Authorized to Sign

He was asked if he would sign an armistice without advance approval by Rhee. He told newsmen the armistice is between the UN commander and the Red Chinese-North Korean command, and said:

Spies Are Buried Amid Angry Blasts at Top U.S. Officials

New York, June 22 (AP)—Funeral services for Julius and Ethel Rosenberg erupted yesterday into tearful praise of the electrocuted atom spies and angry attacks on U. S. government officials.

Defense Attorney Emanuel Bloch declared in a funeral oration that the executions were "an act of cold, deliberate murder."

He said he placed "the murder of the Rosenbergs at the door of President Eisenhower, Atty.-Gen. Brownell and (FBI director) J. Edgar Hoover."

Bloch praised the New York city couple—who died Friday night in the electric chair at Song Sing Prison—for what he called their "courage and heroism."

Semi-orthodox Jewish services were held for the Rosenbergs at a Brooklyn funeral home chapel. About 500 mourners jammed the chapel, and a crowd estimated by police at 10,000 milled around outside in 93-degree heat.

The chapel filled with hisses and murmurs of "no" when Rabbi Abraham Cronback said, "Let us give them (the prosecutors) credit for this: That they did what they thought was right."

Cronbach, professor emeritus of the Hebrew Union College of Cincinnati, Ohio, presided over the service. He was one of a delegation of four clergymen who urged President Eisenhower last week to commute the Rosenbergs' sentences to life imprisonment.

The rabbi told his protesting audience not to be vindictive, even though the execution "broke our hearts." He continued:

"We must demonstrate that we are among those most loyal to America. We must not permit any ground for accusations of remission in our American citizenship. We gain when America gains and we lose when America loses."

In his attack on government leaders, Bloch declared:

"The people should know that America is living under the heel of a military dictator garbed in civilian attire. These people . . . have the souls of murderers."

Bloch was attorney for the Rosenbergs at the trial in which they were convicted of conspiring to pass U. S. atomic secrets to Soviet Russia. For more than two years he led the court fight to have their death sentence set aside.

A procession of more than 300 automobiles followed the hearses to Wellwood Cemetery on Long Island. At the graveside the Rev.

Dispute Ended on Delaware River Water Use by Gotham

New York, June 22 (AP)—New York city, Pennsylvania and New Jersey have reached a compromise agreement concerning the city's use of water from the upper Delaware river basin.

The formula was announced yesterday by Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri and Irving V. A. Huie, president of the city Board of Water Supply.

A key point in the compromise is the city's promise to maintain the flow of the Delaware at stated levels during dry summer and fall months. This would be done by opening the gates of city reservoirs and replacing river water stored during flush periods.

During the years-long dispute over Delaware water diversion, New Jersey and Pennsylvania have expressed fears the city would not leave enough water in the lower river for expanding domestic and industrial needs.

Yesterday's announcement said New Jersey and Pennsylvania have dropped their opposition to the city's tapping of the upper Delaware.

Water experts hope the agreement will help speed completion of a vast reservoir construction

Rubber Companies Reflect Optimism

Akron Tire Manufacturers Expect Big Year in Spite of Inventory

New York, June 22 (AP)—Detroit's optimism is spreading to Akron.

The auto industry, setting a production record in the first half of this year, is boosting its goals for the rest of 1953.

And some in the tire industry—insisting they're undisturbed that stocks of unsold tires are one-fourth larger than a year ago—are raising 1953 sales estimates by three million more passenger car casings.

Counting in truck tires, many in the industry look for 100 million tires to be sold this year.

B. F. Goodrich spokesmen say passenger car tire sales this year should run six million more than last year. The auto industry's spurt gets most of the credit.

Hunt Circus Marks Return to Kingston Of Native Owner

Today marks the return of Charley Hunt and his circus to Kingston—playing at the Pan Am Lot on Albany Avenue Extension under the auspices of the Ulster County Volunteer Fireman's Association. Two shows will be presented—one this afternoon and the second at 8 o'clock tonight.

The owner of Hunt Bros. Circus, Charles T. Hunt Sr., was born in Kingston August 7, 1873, the son of John and Jane Leigh (McCool) Hunt. His father had a hotel and livery stable at the corner of Washington avenue and North Front street, and later purchased a coal yard, in 1895.

On November 9, 1892, Charles T. Hunt married Carrie Grice Tronson who trouped with the circus owner until her death on February 13, 1948. The Hunts had four children, Charlotte, Charles Jr., Harry T. and Edward.

Hunt Bros. Circus first winter quarters were in Kingston, with some of the older Kingston residents still recalling the tight-rope acts that Charley Hunt used to present as practice sessions at the North Front street corner where a gasoline station now stands. Later the circus' winter quarters were moved to Pikesville, Md., and now they are located at Florence, N. J.

First Motorized Show

The Hunt family has trouped throughout the country as a circus unit for 61 years of continuous operation, and today Charles T. Hunt senior is referred to as the dean of American circus owners. The Hunt Bros. Circus was the first show to become motorized, and today travels on huge trucks throughout the United States, particularly in the northeastern and seaboard regions. This circus also claims the distinction of being the first institution of its kind to present a performance in three rings, and the first to use air conditioning in its big top.

Through the years the Hunt Circus has acquired a reputation of quality of entertainment and a policy of dealing honestly with the public. Each year the circus returns to Kingston for a one day stand, and each year many of the older residents of the city await the appearance of Charley Hunt who delights in recalling the "good old days" when he gave local audiences a thrill while he balanced himself on the tight rope at the North Front street corner.

Renews Acquaintances

The 1953 edition of Hunt Bros. Circus pulled into Kingston Sunday morning from Middletown and set up on the Pan Am lot. During the day many friends of the circus owner visited the lot and renewed acquaintances, while the younger generation gazed with awe at the large elephant herd that travels with the circus. Following the two shows to be presented today, the Hunt Bros. Circus will leave for the north on its usual season trek—to return next year with new wonders of the sawdust and spangle trail.

Hunt Circus Marks Return to Kingston Of Native Owner

Today marks the return of Charley Hunt and his circus to Kingston—playing at the Pan Am Lot on Albany Avenue Extension under the auspices of the Ulster County Volunteer Fireman's Association. Two shows will be presented—one this afternoon and the second at 8 o'clock tonight.

The owner of Hunt Bros. Circus, Charles T. Hunt Sr., was born in Kingston August 7, 1873, the son of John and Jane Leigh (McCool) Hunt. His father had a hotel and livery stable at the corner of Washington avenue and North Front street, and later purchased a coal yard, in 1895.

On November 9, 1892, Charles T. Hunt married Carrie Grice Tronson who trouped with the circus owner until her death on February 13, 1948. The Hunts had four children, Charlotte, Charles Jr., Harry T. and Edward.

Hunt Bros. Circus first winter quarters were in Kingston, with some of the older Kingston residents still recalling the tight-rope acts that Charley Hunt used to present as practice sessions at the North Front street corner where a gasoline station now stands. Later the circus' winter quarters were moved to Pikesville, Md., and now they are located at Florence, N. J.

First Motorized Show

The Hunt family has trouped throughout the country as a circus unit for 61 years of continuous operation, and today Charles T. Hunt senior is referred to as the dean of American circus owners. The Hunt Bros. Circus was the first show to become motorized, and today travels on huge trucks throughout the United States, particularly in the northeastern and seaboard regions. This circus also claims the distinction of being the first institution of its kind to present a performance in three rings, and the first to use air conditioning in its big top.

Through the years the Hunt Circus has acquired a reputation of quality of entertainment and a policy of dealing honestly with the public. Each year the circus returns to Kingston for a one day stand, and each year many of the older residents of the city await the appearance of Charley Hunt who delights in recalling the "good old days" when he gave local audiences a thrill while he balanced himself on the tight rope at the North Front street corner.

Renews Acquaintances

The 1953 edition of Hunt Bros. Circus pulled into Kingston Sunday morning from Middletown and set up on the Pan Am lot. During the day many friends of the circus owner visited the lot and renewed acquaintances, while the younger generation gazed with awe at the large elephant herd that travels with the circus. Following the two shows to be presented today, the Hunt Bros. Circus will leave for the north on its usual season trek—to return next year with new wonders of the sawdust and spangle trail.

Good Roads Backs Pleas for Modern Highway in State

Twenty-seven Ulster county organizations have asked Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and the state Legislature to commence a program for a modern highway system as soon as possible.

The request was released today by Warren Knaust of Saugerties, president of the Ulster County Chapter of the New York Good Roads Association.

Noting that the development of a modern highway system is "of vital importance to all the people of the state," the local groups specifically expressed support for the efforts of the Highway Finance Planning Commission to provide better highways.

The action taken by the local groups is a part of a state-wide movement to encourage early consideration of the road problem in the state.

"Did you ever see a better-played hand?" asked Hard Luck Joe. His partner sighed heavily, evidently convinced that Joe was a hopeless case. Look the hand over carefully and see if you can detect the reason for North's dissatisfaction.

West opened the seven of spades, dummy played low, East played the nine, and South won with the king. Hard Luck Joe, playing the South hand, next led a low heart from his hand and successfully finessed dummy's ten.

South continued by rattling off four rounds of diamonds, followed by the ace and king of hearts. He next led a club from dummy, and captured East's queen with the ace.

A club return found East winning with the king. East could cash the ace of spades, but had to give the rest to South. Joe therefore won eleven tricks, scoring his game with two overtricks.

North had very good reason to feel dissatisfied with his partner. See if you can find the reason before you read on.

There was nothing wrong with the way Hard Luck Joe played the hand. He had blundered in the bidding.

It was a bridge crime of the first order to bid three no-trump when East put his own head on the chopping block with the bid of three spades. Joe should have doubled quietly but firmly, expecting to collect at least the value of the game.

He would not have been disappointed in this expectation. Almost any kind of defense would cause East to lose two tricks in each suit. North and South would have collected a penalty of 1100 points—more than twice the value of their non-vulnerable game!

Pay more? What for?

Fifty Years Forward on the American Road

You don't have to pay costly-car prices for costly-car comforts. Ford brings you everything [and we mean everything] you've ever wanted in a car, at a price that's well within your reach! And according to recent surveys, a Ford returns more of its original cost when sold than any other car at any price!

Here are a few of the "Worth More" advantages you'll find in the '53 Ford:

1. A V-8 engine—powerful and smooth!
Ford's famous high-compression V-8 is a leader in quiet, flexible, economical performance. Ford, remember, has built more V-8's than all other makers combined—over 13 million!

2. America's most economical Six engine!
If it's a Six you want, Ford offers you the high-compression, low-friction Mileage Maker . . . the engine which, with optional Overdrive, won over all other cars, regardless of size or weight, in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run! And it's yours for the same kind of money that buys less modern sixes in other cars.

3. America's finest and most versatile automatic drive!
Fordomatic Drive is the "automatic" which gives you both the get-up-and-go of automatic gears and the smoothness of a fluid torque converter. If you choose Fordomatic, you will find that it makes all your driving easier . . . more relaxing.

4. Automatic gas savings!
Ford's Automatic Power Pilot (on Six and V-8) meters just the right amount of gas, times ignition precisely, burns fuel evenly and completely. You get full high-compression performance from every drop of gas—regular or premium.

5. America's newest and finest power steering!
Ford's Master-Guide power steering gives you new ease, stability and safety in guiding your car on smooth roads or rough. Your car gains in sure-footed roadability and you expend less effort in driving—and parking.

6. Largest choice of models in the low-price field!
Ford alone gives you a choice of 18 different models . . . a SIX or V-8 . . . Fordomatic, Conventional or Overdrive . . . the widest variety of body, color and upholstery combinations. You can practically "design" your own Ford!

7. A body that's the style-setter!
Only Ford in its field gives you the advantages of a hull-tight Crestmark Body . . . the trend-maker in design and beauty. Ford's body is the longest and Ford's trunk, the largest. You enjoy more usable space.

8. New driving conveniences!
Ford's first in its field with such "Worth More" features as easier-acting, suspended pedals that eliminate floor holes . . . foam rubber cushions on front and rear seats in all models . . . and convenient Center-Fill Fueling.

9. An automatically controlled ride!
When you Test Drive this Ford, notice how the wide front tread (widest in the low-price field) takes tilt out of turns . . . gives you a more level ride. With new "balanced suspension," new spring and shock absorber action and new rubber compression bumpers, road shock in the front end alone is reduced up to 80%.

10. It's worth more when you sell it!
An impartial survey of used car prices proved that Fords return a greater proportion of their original cost than any other cars in America. It's another fact to add to Ford's reputation as the "Worth More" car.

But don't take our word for it. Stop in and Test Drive this Ford for yourself. We predict you'll be sold before you're in second! It was true last year and it's even truer this year: you can pay more, but you can't buy better than Ford.

Good Roads Backs Pleas for Modern Highway in State

Twenty-seven Ulster county organizations have asked Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and the state Legislature to commence a program for a modern highway system as soon as possible.

The request was released today by Warren Knaust of Saugerties, president of the Ulster County Chapter of the New York Good Roads Association.

Noting that the development of a modern highway system is "of vital importance to all the people of the state," the local groups specifically expressed support for the efforts of the Highway Finance Planning Commission to provide better highways.

The action taken by the local groups is a part of a state-wide movement to encourage early consideration of the road problem in the state.

"Did you ever see a better-played hand?" asked Hard Luck Joe. His partner sighed heavily, evidently convinced that Joe was a hopeless case. Look the hand over carefully and see if you can detect the reason for North's dissatisfaction.

West opened the seven of spades, dummy played low, East played the nine, and South won with the king. Hard Luck Joe, playing the South hand, next led a low heart from his hand and successfully finessed dummy's ten.

South continued by rattling off four rounds of diamonds, followed by the ace and king of hearts. He next led a club from dummy, and captured East's queen with the ace.

A club return found East winning with the king. East could cash the ace of spades, but had to give the rest to South. Joe therefore won eleven tricks, scoring his game with two overtricks.

North had very good reason to feel dissatisfied with his partner. See if you can find the reason before you read on.

There was nothing wrong with the way Hard Luck Joe played the hand. He had blundered in the bidding.

It was a bridge crime of the first order to bid three no-trump when East put his own head on the chopping block with the bid of three spades. Joe should have doubled quietly but firmly, expecting to collect at least the value of the game.

He would not have been disappointed in this expectation. Almost any kind of defense would cause East to lose two tricks in each suit. North and South would have collected a penalty of 1100 points—more than twice the value of their non-vulnerable game!

WE MUST PRODUCE MORE FOOD

The population of the United States is soaring.

At present the increase runs to 7,000 persons a day. Government experts predict a 20 per cent population jump in the 1950-60 period alone.

These people must be fed—and fed, for the most part, on what can be produced on our croplands, which the 1950 census put at 336,349,000 acres.

The experts also say that if our present living standards are to be maintained through 1975, it will be necessary to bring 100,000,000 more fertile acres into production. Yet even optimistic forecasts hold that only 50,000,000 currently unproductive acres can be cleared, drained, irrigated and improved by 1975. We are presently bringing in only 2,000,000 acres a year and more than half of this is offset by the expansion of cities, towns and industrial areas.

The meaning of these forecasts and figures is clear. Unless we are to suffer a decline in living standards, we must get more and more food and fiber from our productive land. And that means the intensified application of scientific production practices and better land utilization.

Fortunately, that is not a visionary goal. Farmers and land owners are practicing conservation farming on an ever-increasing scale and in a manner that would have been impossible a few years ago. The best conservation and land use practices require machinery that was non-existent fifty years ago, but which is now standard farming equipment.

The agricultural future of the United States, and of the world for that matter, lies in maximum use of power-driven implements by farmers and ranchers who realize that the machine—rather than a futile search for new land—provides the solution to feeding our expanding population.

It never hurts to set your sights high. It is far easier to come down than go up.

LIFE BOAT RADIO

A new radio designed for use on lifeboats by the Mackay Radio and Telegraph Company may help save many lives. The new radio is buoyant, weighs only 56 pounds and automatically sends distress calls and signals which actuate automatic alarms on ships. The new design is of the type that will be required on all ocean-going ships after November 19.

One feature of the Mackay radio which may save lives is that it can be operated by persons with no knowledge of radio. It is powered by a hand-cranked generator but can also be attached to a battery if one is available. Full directions for assembling the radio will be provided with each set.

In recent years travel at sea has been made safer by many new devices. But the fear of shipwreck still remains. The Mackay radio will not prevent shipwreck, but it will give victims of such mishaps a better chance to survive them.

The fellow full only of himself is a mighty empty man.

COLOMBIA COUP

In Colombia the head of the army, Lieutenant General Gustavo Rojas Pinnilla, seized control of the government in a bloodless revolution which ousted President Laureano Gomez. He named a thirteen man cabinet to rule the country under military control "until clean elections can be held."

Unrest and revolutions in the Latin American countries occur frequently. It is not often that revolts are carried out as efficiently and with as little turmoil and bloodshed as the one in Colombia. But bloodless or not it is always deplorable to see men ignore constitutional means of changing their government and resort to violence or the threat of violence. A man who comes to power as the result of a revolution must be constantly alert lest a new upheaval drive him from office.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE MIDDLE ROAD

During the past two decades when all of us have fallen into the habit of speaking of Left and Right, of Left of Center, of the Middle Road, the tendency of thought, in many countries, has been to avoid definition of terms. It is characteristic of an era of confusion that this should be so. How can one speak of the Middle Road unless the two ends are unmistakably clear? The Middle can only be a point equidistant between two fixed terminals.

The avoidance of absolutes in politics, as in personal morals, may satisfy the desire of individuals to avoid positive decisions, many of which may be unpleasant and some even impolite. The genteel person can go through life without ever annoying anyone or hurting feelings by never reaching a conclusion on anything but always skimming across thin surfaces.

The phrase "Middle Road," is a misnomer; it should be the "Milquetoast Road," in honor of that meek and mild comic strip personality who, while he often blew his top, as the expression goes, backed away from real opposition because it hurts his sensibilities to have to reach an unpalatable decision. In a stronger era, the risk of decisiveness was taken by strong men.

In political relationships, the Middle Road has never meant anything, because politics is not only the art of government; it is also the art of compromise among irreconcilable forces. Talleyrand's greatest successes were in his compromises. But to compromise wisely, it is necessary never to depart from the essence of one's own program. Disraeli, Bismarck and Stalin, among the world's greatest empire builders, understood how to do this; Chiang Kai-shek and Franklin D. Roosevelt did not know how to employ this tool of statesmanship; Chiang, because he was obdurate at the wrong time; Roosevelt, because he lacked a program for his own country and therefore was pulled too far away from its national interests.

Roosevelt is an excellent example of the Middle-of-the-Road personality in politics. He had no philosophy to guide him except a pragmatic rule that what works today is good for today. Tomorrow was never his problem, although the curse of political arrangements is that tomorrow is just around the corner and the corner is turned too swiftly. Roosevelt, against his will and probably without his knowledge, was pulled into Stalin's corner, just as Churchill, in his great old age, has become the international broker for Malenkov.

This can happen to anyone who makes the Middle-of-the-Road his slogan. Such a person avoids what he calls extremes; but the Russians have proved that the extremists can win if they give the appearance, but never the substance, of compromise. What the Russians have established as a fact since Teheran (1943), Bismarck proved in the establishment of the German empire—which his successors lost. Similarly, Talleyrand saved France, because that was all he had to do.

The American failure in Korea, on the contrary, is a superb example of the inevitable tragedy of going somewhere without knowing where or why. To engage in war without a decision for victory; to collect allies without stipulating the terms of alliance; to permit the enemy the comfort of a sanctuary without the employment of means to destroy it; to permit allies to trade with the enemy on a grand scale without even economic reprisals; to make an armistice without protecting the future—these are indications of a lack of program by Middle-of-the-Roaders.

Why, for instance, does Tito resume more cordial relations with Soviet Russia at just this moment? It is because failure brings its consequences and one of the major consequences is loss of confidence. The leadership in the Western World is no longer held by the United States but has reverted to Great Britain. British policy is based on a program—the program of restoring the European market among the European nations led by Great Britain. Tito is following British policy because it is not a temperamental, whimsical policy. It has its own absolute—trade. Since Elizabeth I, that has been the British guide and any departure from it—any Middle-of-the-Road doctrine—has produced only disaster.

In this moment of our first military defeat, slogans may soothe the spirit, but to save the body, radical surgery is essential.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

FOCAL INFECTION

Notwithstanding that practically all our physicians and dentists of middle age have accepted the theory of focal infection—where an infection begins in a certain tissue, sets up signs and symptoms, and organisms from this focus or focal point find their way by the blood vessels and lymph channels to other parts of the body—there are late graduates who tell their patients that the theory of focal infection has been cast aside.

As some patients, (dental and medical) may be influenced by such statements, it is well at this time to get authoritative information by way of the Journal of the American Medical Association from Dr. George H. Coleman, a co-worker of the famous Dr. Billings from 1912 on, during the period of his notable clinical research on the concept or theory of focal infection. Dr. Billings proposed that focal infection was a principal factor in causing certain forms of disease in the system.

Fortunately, physicians and especially research workers have to be shown that certain accepted facts, such as focal infection, can prove themselves. Dr. Coleman states that many physicians abandoned the theory of focal infection because too much was claimed for it, but they have now accepted the theory by agreeing that the concept of focal infection in regard to systemic disease is firmly established.

Another firmly established fact is that when the defensive forces of the body are decreased by injury, fatigue, exposure, mental depression and thin blood, secondary disease results far more readily when a focus of infection is present.

The dental profession has every reason to believe in the focal infection theory. Some years ago I heard a lecture by the famous Dr. Weston Price, Cleveland, who showed pictures of crippled patients, whose crippling was caused by his failure to remove infected teeth over which he had placed gold crowns. By removal of these crowns and cleaning up some and removing other teeth, great improvement was shown in the condition of the patients. Other diseases besides arthritis are now being reported by eye, skin, and heart specialists as being cured by the removal of focal infections.

Still another and dramatic result of investigating the focal infection theory is that the antibiotics (germ or organism killers) are being used now before, during, and after operations on mouth, ear, throat and other organs, as it has been found that this treatment, by killing the organisms before they move to distant parts of the body, prevents infection. Diseases that are prevented or decreased in severity include valvular heart disease, especially rheumatic diseases; removal of tonsils where there is "strep" throat, removal of teeth. Penicillin injection is usual method.

In conclusion Dr. Coleman states, "After much controversy and as a consequence of continued research and clinical study by physicians, dentists, and other scientists, the concept of focal infection has become an accepted principle in the practice of medicine and dentistry."

...Among Other Things

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—Existence of any new, fixed policy to dump all government-held surpluses of farm products, regardless of price cut or loss, to get the federal government out of the crop-storage business, is denied by Department of Agriculture officials.

From the office of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson came an unqualified answer that there was no policy to liquidate. It was explained that methods of disposal on each commodity would be handled separately. Storable surpluses that can be carried over without loss will be held. But reserves that are spoiling will be disposed of at whatever prices can be obtained in order to salvage as much as possible.

This is the key to the administration's new policy. It is intended to reduce to a minimum government losses on its farm-price-support operations. It is also intended to prevent the complete spoilage of perishable surpluses and their ultimate destruction at a 100 per cent-plus-storage-cost loss to the government.

From Production and Marketing Administration and Commodity Credit Corporation come explanations of how this policy has been followed in typical recent operations. One involves the sale of cotton-seed meal. Another is the Austrian winter pea sale which is now headed for a congressional investigation.

In March, CCC cut the price of its stocks of cotton-seed meal from $70 a ton at Memphis to $57. Since the government stocks in April amounted to 791,000 tons, it looked as though the government stood to lose over $10 million on the operation.

Critics of this program argued that the government was ruining the market by undercutting prices. If the stocks had been held, the price would have stayed up. And the government could have disposed of its surplus during the summer, before the new cotton crop came in.

Chose to Get Rid of Cotton-Seed Meal

CCC practice in this program has been to support the price of cotton seed. But since the seed doesn't keep well, it is sent to the mills for crushing.

The oil and linters can be stored for a time, but government stocks are now over a billion pounds of oil and 150,000 bags of linters. The cotton-seed meal left after the crush is hard to keep in hot weather and goes weevily.

With another big cotton crop coming in this summer and a still bigger surplus in sight, CCC felt it had to get rid of its present stocks of meal or take a loss on the entire investment.

Under the old Office of Price Stabilization ceiling of around $80 a ton on meal, the government could have made out all right. It had bought the cotton seed at a 90 per cent of parity, which was $57 to $60 a ton.

But when the OPS ceilings were removed, the market sought its own level, which turned out to be lower. The cattle market was off and the demand for meal as feed dropped, too. Nobody wanted to buy any of the government's store of meal at the $57 price.

CCC tried a $5-a-ton cut. Still no takers. It tried another $5-a-ton cut and got the same result. Finally an industry committee was called in. It advised that the price would have to be cut to make the cotton-seed meal competitive with soybean meal. So another $3 was lopped off the price.

At $57, which is considered a break-even price for the government, some 300,000 tons had been sold up to early June. At $52 a ton, 70,000 additional tons were moved into export. CCC thinks it can move the rest of the surplus before the new cotton crop starts coming to market, from July to September. Some will be given away as relief for farmers hit by flood damage.

The government has shown a profit on its operations under the OPS ceilings. CCC thinks that its profits will absorb the losses on the cotton-seed-meal sales. It hopes to show a profit of several million dollars on the entire year's operations.

The price of the cotton-seed oil and the linters will not be cut. This is cited to show that there is no general policy of dumping all surpluses.

The Austrian winter pea deal on the west coast involved surpluses that had been building up since the 1949 crop, says CCC. The germination rate was down and the seed had begun to deteriorate. The government had 100,000 tons on hand, acquired at a cost of over $6 million. It looked like a total loss.

When a group of feed mixers offered to take 80,000 tons at $30 a ton, the government grabbed at it as a chance to salvage $2,400,000. It still has 20,000 tons which will probably have to be used in relief shipments.

The mistake on this one, says a CCC official, is that sale was made on a negotiated-contract basis, instead of on an open-market bid.

One interesting detail of this transaction is that all the fuss was stirred up by a San Francisco pigeon dealer who yelled to his congressman when his bid to buy a few bags at the $30 price was refused by the government.

Eisenhower Situation Was Very Much Like That of Washington With Major Andre

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 22—President Eisenhower's tense moments while waiting for the Rosenbergs to tell all they knew and demonstrate their allegiance to the United States instead of to Soviet Russia had in some respects a curious parallel to the last days' incidents just before General Washington in 1780 ordered the execution of Major Andre, British spy.

Last week reference was made in these columns to the treason of Benedict Arnold and the dispatch should have read that it was his accomplice, Major Andre, who paid the death penalty. For the fact is that Arnold himself escaped and had the effrontery to demand that General Washington grant clemency to Andre failing which Arnold threatened reprisals against continental prisoners in the hands of the British.

But General Washington was unmoved. He did grant a reprieve at the last minute on the day the execution was first ordered. Then he postponed it only until a hearing could be granted to a British major general and two civilian lawyers who came by permission across from enemy lines to argue that Andre had entered the continental lines under a flag of truce and hence was not deserving of the death penalty. But while General Washington agreed to have one of his generals receive the delegation he made it clear he was not receiving them as "bargaining representatives of a hostile government that had nothing to do with the enforcement of American military law."

General Washington read the report of the conference that same evening and decided that nothing new had been adduced. General Greene, who conducted the conversations in behalf of General Washington, had offered to exchange Major Andre for Benedict Arnold but the British commander scorned the offer. A few hours later General Washington again ordered the execution and disregarded a letter from Andre himself that he be permitted to die like a soldier from the bullets of a firing squad instead of on the gallows. Washington took the position that under military law all spies had to hang and that it was important to let all potential spies know that such a fate would await them. He so reported to the continental congress.

Oddly enough there was a general sympathy with Major Andre throughout the continental camps because of his forthrightness when captured. He freely admitted that he did not come under a flag of truce, as the British commander had tried to argue. He was a bit of a hero even with some of the continental officers including Lafayette and Hamilton who gladly would have exchanged him for Arnold but Washington did not allow sentiment to interfere as he denied a personal plea for leniency from Andre himself.

There is a significant contrast, too, between the way the Andre case was handled and the reports that have been coming in from East Germany about the execution by the Communists of alleged "western agents" who were promptly put to death last week without even so much as a hearing or a trial or a chance to present evidence.

This is something the demonstrators for the Rosenbergs might note. For the United States did give the two spies many months for a trial and appeals and pleas and at the last moment the highest court in the land—which rarely grants a hearing in criminal cases already decided by juries and courts—sat in special session to hear certain legal aspects of the case.

When German spies were landed on the American coast from a submarine during World War 2 they were given a trial not only by a military tribunal but the case was submitted for review to the Supreme Court. Whether or not one agrees with the wisdom of a system whereby a single justice can grant a stay of execution, this is the present rule and what Justice Douglas did turned out to be a further rebuttal to skeptics abroad who may have felt that the United States did not give the fullest opportunity to the Rosenbergs to prove their innocence and to make a confession that would have spared their lives. The Rosenbergs preferred, however, to die in loyalty to Soviet Russia. So, if any monument is to be set up to commemorate their defiance of the United States, it properly should be erected over their graves in Soviet Russia—where their bodies should be sent—rather than to permit a "shrine to communism" to be established in Brooklyn as reportedly planned by the demonstrators for the Rosenbergs.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The loss of Senator Taft by illness has just about beheaded the Republican faction in our politics. There is no other with the requisite prestige and power of leadership. Senator Bricker, of Ohio, and Williams, of Delaware, both are committed to Republican principles, but Bricker is a quiet operator more at home in law and administration than in body-contact politics and Williams is a narrow specialist on taxes and tax dodges, including foundations. Joe McCarthy's enemies are howling that he has ambitions to be president but Joe is not deceived and neither are those who know him best and like him most. Senators Welker and Jenner, of the Red-baiting Republican team, well know McCarthy's limitations. So does Molly Malone. They gee well together but plainly this is not a Republican 'varsity and the days ahead will be dark for real Republicans and also for the republic, as distinguished from the European type social-democracy which is taking shape under President Ike.

The Dewey faction is still dominant and gains by the loss of Taft. Dewey, a Dubinsky Republican, and his personal protege, or stooge, Irving Ives, have the weird satisfaction of knowing that, at last, they thoroughly deserve the active support of the promoters of international socialism. Ives, in fact, has gone over to the international labor organization in Geneva as Ike's delegate and that apparatus is a straight Marxian socialist device. Truman's representative was Dubinsky's niece, Ida Klaus, the general counsel of the Labor Relations Board.

The semi-Republican senators from Connecticut, William Purtell and Prescott Bush, are senators only by benefit of a deal under the table to get rid of the only real Republican in the state, Vivien Kellems. Vivien had the spiritual delight of knowing that she ran Clare Luce out of the contest by a public threat to show up at every meeting and confront her with scandalous charges and challenges, of a political nature, of course. She wouldn't get personal. Clare's husband, Henry Luce, a very rich man with no sensitive inhibitions, dominated the Republican state convention and gave Ike loud publicity throughout. So Clare went to Rome as ambassador and Vivien, like Congressman Tom Werdel, the "Mr. Republican" of California, was ditched.

Bush is a banking partner of the fantastic fathead Averell Harriman, who is largely responsible for our plight, and perhaps our doom, vis-a-vis Soviet Russia. Harriman has the gibbering effrontery nevertheless to talk of running for governor of New York. That effrontery is not necessarily excessive, for New York has only a scattered few citizens who prefer the true republic. Congressman Javits, who is now on the rail and going well for mayor, has expounded New Deal essentials as his version of Republican principles. He could make no worse mayor than LaGuardia, O'Dwyer or Impellitteri, and he is so committed and associated that he can't make a better one.

Purtell won a "Republican" seat in the Senate thanks to Joe McCarthy, who went into Connecticut twice and swung a lot of Democratic votes to him. Purtell thought he had won because he has a kind face.

Incidentally, the Alsop family ran the Republican campaign in Connecticut and this brood, including the twittering team of Herald Tribune propagandists in Washington, are cousins of La Boca Grande, who often visits their home.

At the last hour, the Massachusetts Republican machine cried to McCarthy to help Henry Cabot Lodge against Joe Kennedy's son, Jack, a congressman. McCarthy pondered. But he is a close friend of the Kennedy's and a personal adviser told him to spend his energy on Republicans who would stay Republican after election. Joe did.

Kennedy won and Lodge went to a soft job on the United Nations. There he is eligible for income tax exemptions and "fringe benefits" on booze and other staples.

Eisenhower is in strange hands and dealing with strange characters in a mysterious way. Shortly before inauguration his brother, Arthur, a Kansas city banker, began hanging around the Waldorf Tower with Arthur J. Goldsmith, the gum-shoe politician

WE MUST PRODUCE MORE FOOD

The population of the United States is soaring.

At present the increase runs to 7,000 persons a day. Government experts predict a 20 per cent population jump in the 1950-60 period alone.

These people must be fed—and fed, for the most part, on what can be produced on our croplands, which the 1950 census put at 336,349,000 acres.

The experts also say that if our present living standards are to be maintained through 1975, it will be necessary to bring 100,000,000 more fertile acres into production. Yet even optimistic forecasts hold that only 50,000,000 currently unproductive acres can be cleared, drained, irrigated and improved by 1975. We are presently bringing in only 2,000,000 acres a year and more than half of this is offset by the expansion of cities, towns and industrial areas.

The meaning of these forecasts and figures is clear. Unless we are to suffer a decline in living standards, we must get more and more food and fiber from our productive land. And that means the intensified application of scientific production practices and better land utilization.

Fortunately, that is not a visionary goal. Farmers and land owners are practicing conservation farming on an ever-increasing scale and in a manner that would have been impossible a few years ago. The best conservation and land use practices require machinery that was non-existent fifty years ago, but which is now standard farming equipment.

The agricultural future of the United States, and of the world for that matter, lies in maximum use of power-driven implements by farmers and ranchers who realize that the machine—rather than a futile search for new land—provides the solution to feeding our expanding population.

It never hurts to set your sights high. It is far easier to come down than go up.

LIFE BOAT RADIO

A new radio designed for use on lifeboats by the Mackay Radio and Telegraph Company may help save many lives. The new radio is buoyant, weighs only 56 pounds and automatically sends distress calls and signals which actuate automatic alarms on ships. The new design is of the type that will be required on all ocean-going ships after November 19.

One feature of the Mackay radio which may save lives is that it can be operated by persons with no knowledge of radio. It is powered by a hand-cranked generator but can also be attached to a battery if one is available. Full directions for assembling the radio will be provided with each set.

In recent years travel at sea has been made safer by many new devices. But the fear of shipwreck still remains. The Mackay radio will not prevent shipwreck, but it will give victims of such mishaps a better chance to survive them.

The fellow full only of himself is a mighty empty man.

COLOMBIA COUP

In Colombia the head of the army, Lieutenant General Gustavo Rojas Pinnilla, seized control of the government in a bloodless revolution which ousted President Laureano Gomez. He named a thirteen man cabinet to rule the country under military control "until clean elections can be held."

Unrest and revolutions in the Latin American countries occur frequently. It is not often that revolts are carried out as efficiently and with as little turmoil and bloodshed as the one in Colombia. But bloodless or not it is always deplorable to see men ignore constitutional means of changing their government and resort to violence or the threat of violence. A man who comes to power as the result of a revolution must be constantly alert lest a new upheaval drive him from office.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE MIDDLE ROAD

During the past two decades when all of us have fallen into the habit of speaking of Left and Right, of Left of Center, of the Middle Road, the tendency of thought, in many countries, has been to avoid definition of terms. It is characteristic of an era of confusion that this should be so. How can one speak of the Middle Road unless the two ends are unmistakably clear? The Middle can only be a point equidistant between two fixed terminals.

The avoidance of absolutes in politics, as in personal morals, may satisfy the desire of individuals to avoid positive decisions, many of which may be unpleasant and some even impolite. The genteel person can go through life without ever annoying anyone or hurting feelings by never reaching a conclusion on anything but always skimming across thin surfaces.

The phrase "Middle Road," is a misnomer; it should be the "Milquetoast Road," in honor of that meek and mild comic strip personality who, while he often blew his top, as the expression goes, backed away from real opposition because it hurts his sensibilities to have to reach an unpalatable decision. In a stronger era, the risk of decisiveness was taken by strong men.

In political relationships, the Middle Road has never meant anything, because politics is not only the art of government; it is also the art of compromise among irreconcilable forces. Talleyrand's greatest successes were in his compromises. But to compromise wisely, it is necessary never to depart from the essence of one's own program. Disraeli, Bismarck and Stalin, among the world's greatest empire builders, understood how to do this; Chiang Kai-shek and Franklin D. Roosevelt did not know how to employ this tool of statesmanship; Chiang, because he was obdurate at the wrong time; Roosevelt, because he lacked a program for his own country and therefore was pulled too far away from its national interests.

Roosevelt is an excellent example of the Middle-of-the-Road personality in politics. He had no philosophy to guide him except a pragmatic rule that what works today is good for today. Tomorrow was never his problem, although the curse of political arrangements is that tomorrow is just around the corner and the corner is turned too swiftly. Roosevelt, against his will and probably without his knowledge, was pulled into Stalin's corner, just as Churchill, in his great old age, has become the international broker for Malenkov.

This can happen to anyone who makes the Middle-of-the-Road his slogan. Such a person avoids what he calls extremes; but the Russians have proved that the extremists can win if they give the appearance, but never the substance, of compromise. What the Russians have established as a fact since Teheran (1943), Bismarck proved in the establishment of the German empire—which his successors lost. Similarly, Talleyrand saved France, because that was all he had to do.

The American failure in Korea, on the contrary, is a superb example of the inevitable tragedy of going somewhere without knowing where or why. To engage in war without a decision for victory; to collect allies without stipulating the terms of alliance; to permit the enemy the comfort of a sanctuary without the employment of means to destroy it; to permit allies to trade with the enemy on a grand scale without even economic reprisals; to make an armistice without protecting the future—these are indications of a lack of program by Middle-of-the-Roaders.

Why, for instance, does Tito resume more cordial relations with Soviet Russia at just this moment? It is because failure brings its consequences and one of the major consequences is loss of confidence. The leadership in the Western World is no longer held by the United States but has reverted to Great Britain. British policy is based on a program—the program of restoring the European market among the European nations led by Great Britain. Tito is following British policy because it is not a temperamental, whimsical policy. It has its own absolute—trade. Since Elizabeth I, that has been the British guide and any departure from it—any Middle-of-the-Road doctrine—has produced only disaster.

In this moment of our first military defeat, slogans may soothe the spirit, but to save the body, radical surgery is essential.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

FOCAL INFECTION

Notwithstanding that practically all our physicians and dentists of middle age have accepted the theory of focal infection—where an infection begins in a certain tissue, sets up signs and symptoms, and organisms from this focus or focal point find their way by the blood vessels and lymph channels to other parts of the body—there are late graduates who tell their patients that the theory of focal infection has been cast aside.

As some patients, (dental and medical) may be influenced by such statements, it is well at this time to get authoritative information by way of the Journal of the American Medical Association from Dr. George H. Coleman, a co-worker of the famous Dr. Billings from 1912 on, during the period of his notable clinical research on the concept or theory of focal infection. Dr. Billings proposed that focal infection was a principal factor in causing certain forms of disease in the system.

Fortunately, physicians and especially research workers have to be shown that certain accepted facts, such as focal infection, can prove themselves. Dr. Coleman states that many physicians abandoned the theory of focal infection because too much was claimed for it, but they have now accepted the theory by agreeing that the concept of focal infection in regard to systemic disease is firmly established.

Another firmly established fact is that when the defensive forces of the body are decreased by injury, fatigue, exposure, mental depression and thin blood, secondary disease results far more readily when a focus of infection is present.

The dental profession has every reason to believe in the focal infection theory. Some years ago I heard a lecture by the famous Dr. Weston Price, Cleveland, who showed pictures of crippled patients, whose crippling was caused by his failure to remove infected teeth over which he had placed gold crowns. By removal of these crowns and cleaning up some and removing other teeth, great improvement was shown in the condition of the patients. Other diseases besides arthritis are now being reported by eye, skin, and heart specialists as being cured by the removal of focal infections.

Still another and dramatic result of investigating the focal infection theory is that the antibiotics (germ or organism killers) are being used now before, during, and after operations on mouth, ear, throat and other organs, as it has been found that this treatment, by killing the organisms before they move to distant parts of the body, prevents infection. Diseases that are prevented or decreased in severity include valvular heart disease, especially rheumatic diseases; removal of tonsils where there is "strep" throat, removal of teeth. Penicillin injection is usual method.

In conclusion Dr. Coleman states, "After much controversy and as a consequence of continued research and clinical study by physicians, dentists, and other scientists, the concept of focal infection has become an accepted principle in the practice of medicine and dentistry."

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—Existence of any new, fixed policy to dump all government-held surpluses of farm products, regardless of price cut or loss, to get the federal government out of the crop-storage business, is denied by Department of Agriculture officials.

From the office of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson came an unqualified answer that there was no policy to liquidate. It was explained that methods of disposal on each commodity would be handled separately. Storable surpluses that can be carried over without loss will be held. But reserves that are spoiling will be disposed of at whatever prices can be obtained in order to salvage as much as possible.

This is the key to the administration's new policy. It is intended to reduce to a minimum government losses on its farm-price-support operations. It is also intended to prevent the complete spoilage of perishable surpluses and their ultimate destruction at a 100 per cent-plus-storage-cost loss to the government.

From Production and Marketing Administration and Commodity Credit Corporation come explanations of how this policy has been followed in typical recent operations. One involves the sale of cotton-seed meal. Another is the Austrian winter pea sale which is now headed for a congressional investigation.

In March, CCC cut the price of its stocks of cotton-seed meal from $70 a ton at Memphis to $57. Since the government stocks in April amounted to 791,000 tons, it looked as though the government stood to lose over $10 million on the operation.

Critics of this program argued that the government was ruining the market by undercutting prices. If the stocks had been held, the price would have stayed up. And the government could have disposed of its surplus during the summer, before the new cotton crop came in.

Chose to Get Rid of Cotton-Seed Meal

CCC practice in this program has been to support the price of cotton seed. But since the seed doesn't keep well, it is sent to the mills for crushing.

The oil and linters can be stored for a time, but government stocks are now over a billion pounds of oil and 150,000 bags of linters. The cotton-seed meal left after the crush is hard to keep in hot weather and goes weevily.

With another big cotton crop coming in this summer and a still bigger surplus in sight, CCC felt it had to get rid of its present stocks of meal or take a loss on the entire investment.

Under the old Office of Price Stabilization ceiling of around $80 a ton on meal, the government could have made out all right. It had bought the cotton seed at a 90 per cent of parity, which was $57 to $60 a ton.

But when the OPS ceilings were removed, the market sought its own level, which turned out to be lower. The cattle market was off and the demand for meal as feed dropped, too. Nobody wanted to buy any of the government's store of meal at the $57 price.

CCC tried a $5-a-ton cut. Still no takers. It tried another $5-a-ton cut and got the same result. Finally an industry committee was called in. It advised that the price would have to be cut to make the cotton-seed meal competitive with soybean meal. So another $3 was lopped off the price.

At $57, which is considered a break-even price for the government, some 300,000 tons had been sold up to early June. At $52 a ton, 70,000 additional tons were moved into export. CCC thinks it can move the rest of the surplus before the new cotton crop starts coming to market, from July to September. Some will be given away as relief for farmers hit by flood damage.

The government has shown a profit on its operations under the OPS ceilings. CCC thinks that its profits will absorb the losses on the cotton-seed-meal sales. It hopes to show a profit of several million dollars on the entire year's operations.

The price of the cotton-seed oil and the linters will not be cut. This is cited to show that there is no general policy of dumping all surpluses.

The Austrian winter pea deal on the west coast involved surpluses that had been building up since the 1949 crop, says CCC. The germination rate was down and the seed had begun to deteriorate. The government had 100,000 tons on hand, acquired at a cost of over $6 million. It looked like a total loss.

When a group of feed mixers offered to take 80,000 tons at $30 a ton, the government grabbed at it as a chance to salvage $2,400,000. It still has 20,000 tons which will probably have to be used in relief shipments.

The mistake on this one, says a CCC official, is that sale was made on a negotiated-contract basis, instead of on an open-market bid.

One interesting detail of this transaction is that all the fuss was stirred up by a San Francisco pigeon dealer who yelled to his congressman when his bid to buy a few bags at the $30 price was refused by the government.

When the customer received the shipment he found the cargo consisted of silver instead of zinc. He immediately returned the far costlier metal to the sender Sen who was so astonished that he built the temple to commemmorate the event. Sen's descendants still keep keep up the worship in the temple after 300 years.

Eisenhower Situation Was Very Much Like That of Washington With Major Andre

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 22—President Eisenhower's tense moments while waiting for the Rosenbergs to tell all they knew and demonstrate their allegiance to the United States instead of to Soviet Russia had in some respects a curious parallel to the last days' incidents just before General Washington in 1780 ordered the execution of Major Andre, British spy.

Last week reference was made in these columns to the treason of Benedict Arnold and the dispatch should have read that it was his accomplice, Major Andre, who paid the death penalty. For the fact is that Arnold himself escaped and had the effrontery to demand that General Washington grant clemency to Andre failing which Arnold threatened reprisals against continental prisoners in the hands of the British.

But General Washington was unmoved. He did grant a reprieve at the last minute on the day the execution was first ordered. Then he postponed it only until a hearing could be granted to a British major general and two civilian lawyers who came by permission across from enemy lines to argue that Andre had entered the continental lines under a flag of truce and hence was not deserving of the death penalty. But while General Washington agreed to have one of his generals receive the delegation he made it clear he was not receiving them as "bargaining representatives of a hostile government that had nothing to do with the enforcement of American military law."

General Washington read the report of the conference that same evening and decided that nothing new had been adduced. General Greene, who conducted the conversations in behalf of General Washington, had offered to exchange Major Andre for Benedict Arnold but the British commander scorned the offer. A few hours later General Washington again ordered the execution and disregarded a letter from Andre himself that he be permitted to die like a soldier from the bullets of a firing squad instead of on the gallows. Washington took the position that under military law all spies had to hang and that it was important to let all potential spies know that such a fate would await them. He so reported to the continental congress.

Oddly enough there was a general sympathy with Major Andre throughout the continental camps because of his forthrightness when captured. He freely admitted that he did not come under a flag of truce, as the British commander had tried to argue. He was a bit of a hero even with some of the continental officers including Lafayette and Hamilton who gladly would have exchanged him for Arnold but Washington did not allow sentiment to interfere as he denied a personal plea for leniency from Andre himself.

There is a significant contrast, too, between the way the Andre case was handled and the reports that have been coming in from East Germany about the execution by the Communists of alleged "western agents" who were promptly put to death last week without even so much as a hearing or a trial or a chance to present evidence.

This is something the demonstrators for the Rosenbergs might note. For the United States did give the two spies many months for a trial and appeals and pleas and at the last moment the highest court in the land—which rarely grants a hearing in criminal cases already decided by juries and courts—sat in special session to hear certain legal aspects of the case.

When German spies were landed on the American coast from a submarine during World War 2 they were given a trial not only by a military tribunal but the case was submitted for review to the Supreme Court. Whether or not one agrees with the wisdom of a system whereby a single justice can grant a stay of execution, this is the present rule and what Justice Douglas did turned out to be a further rebuttal to skeptics abroad who may have felt that the United States did not give the fullest opportunity to the Rosenbergs to prove their innocence and to make a confession that would have spared their lives. The Rosenbergs preferred, however, to die in loyalty to Soviet Russia. So, if any monument is to be set up to commemorate their defiance of the United States, it properly should be erected over their graves in Soviet Russia—where their bodies should be sent—rather than to permit a "shrine to communism" to be established in Brooklyn as reportedly planned by the demonstrators for the Rosenbergs.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The loss of Senator Taft by illness has just about beheaded the Republican faction in our politics. There is no other with the requisite prestige and power of leadership. Senator Bricker, of Ohio, and Williams, of Delaware, both are committed to Republican principles, but Bricker is a quiet operator more at home in law and administration than in body-contact politics and Williams is a narrow specialist on taxes and tax dodges, including foundations. Joe McCarthy's enemies are howling that he has ambitions to be president but Joe is not deceived and neither are those who know him best and like him most. Senators Welker and Jenner, of the Red-baiting Republican team, well know McCarthy's limitations. So does Molly Malone. They gee well together but plainly this is not a Republican 'varsity and the days ahead will be dark for real Republicans and also for the republic, as distinguished from the European type social-democracy which is taking shape under President Ike.

The Dewey faction is still dominant and gains by the loss of Taft. Dewey, a Dubinsky Republican, and his personal protege, or stooge, Irving Ives, have the weird satisfaction of knowing that, at last, they thoroughly deserve the active support of the promoters of international socialism. Ives, in fact, has gone over to the international labor organization in Geneva as Ike's delegate and that apparatus is a straight Marxian socialist device. Truman's representative was Dubinsky's niece, Ida Klaus, the general counsel of the Labor Relations Board.

The semi-Republican senators from Connecticut, William Purtell and Prescott Bush, are senators only by benefit of a deal under the table to get rid of the only real Republican in the state, Vivien Kellems. Vivien had the spiritual delight of knowing that she ran Clare Luce out of the contest by a public threat to show up at every meeting and confront her with scandalous charges and challenges, of a political nature, of course. She wouldn't get personal. Clare's husband, Henry Luce, a very rich man with no sensitive inhibitions, dominated the Republican state convention and gave Ike loud publicity throughout. So Clare went to Rome as ambassador and Vivien, like Congressman Tom Werdel, the "Mr. Republican" of California, was ditched.

Bush is a banking partner of the fantastic fathead Averell Harriman, who is largely responsible for our plight, and perhaps our doom, vis-a-vis Soviet Russia. Harriman has the gibbering effrontery nevertheless to talk of running for governor of New York. That effrontery is not necessarily excessive, for New York has only a scattered few citizens who prefer the true republic. Congressman Javits, who is now on the rail and going well for mayor, has expounded New Deal essentials as his version of Republican principles. He could make no worse mayor than LaGuardia, O'Dwyer or Impellitteri, and he is so committed and associated that he can't make a better one.

Purtell won a "Republican" seat in the Senate thanks to Joe McCarthy, who went into Connecticut twice and swung a lot of Democratic votes to him. Purtell thought he had won because he has a kind face.

Incidentally, the Alsop family ran the Republican campaign in Connecticut and this brood, including the twittering team of Herald Tribune propagandists in Washington, are cousins of La Boca Grande, who often visits their home.

At the last hour, the Massachusetts Republican machine cried to McCarthy to help Henry Cabot Lodge against Joe Kennedy's son, Jack, a congressman. McCarthy pondered. But he is a close friend of the Kennedy's and a personal adviser told him to spend his energy on Republicans who would stay Republican after election. Joe did.

Kennedy won and Lodge went to a soft job on the United Nations. There he is eligible for income tax exemptions and "fringe benefits" on booze and other staples.

Eisenhower is in strange hands and dealing with strange characters in a mysterious way. Shortly before inauguration his brother, Arthur, a Kansas city banker, began hanging around the Waldorf Tower with Arthur J. Goldsmith, the gum-shoe politician

Don't Blame Junior

By FRANK TRIPP

The child looks into the parent's mind, says one of the childless authorities on how to bring up a family. I'll settle for that, provided the parent has a mind and stays around home enough for the kid to get a look into it.

What we need are kindergarten courses telling children how to bring up parents; now that Junior has taken over the lives of the household and rules the roost. He has been ceded authority without preparation. The results are nothing to brag about.

Instead the specialists put their effort on parents, who then spend copious time talking it over with each other at highbrow meetings. They could be learning the real answers back home, only they can't be bothered.

The dog books get at the root of the thing. They sum it up in the first chapters where they say that, to master a dog, first off you've got to know more than the dog.

* * *

SURE ENOUGH, the child does look into the adult mind; and he can spot a softie just like a dog can. He can spot impatience and parental tyranny too; and love, when he can see enough of his parents to become acquainted with them.

The day the kids took over was when so many gadding mothers and club-smitten fathers began farming them out at age four to be housebroke and wised up by hired mentors; so as to be rid of the irksome tasks of the old-fashioned parent.

Then they get them back around age six and turn them over to stymied school teachers who have been stripped of the only persuader that could influence half of them—the knout.

"Spare the rod and spoil the child" went out of the window with nickel sodas and penny lollipops. The only birds with rods today are the teenagers with hot rods and gangsters with gats.

* * *

AT SEVEN a precocious kid, reared by strangers, begins to take charge of things around home and gets himself tagged some kind of a problem child. His case is studied by the experts who warn not to wreck his spirit or smother his initiative. Don't cross him; reason it out.

So his parents get 'emselves some kid gloves and start in to build Junior over into something like they wish he was. Again, the dog books say, you can't teach an old dog new tricks. By 11, headstrong Junior is older and wiser than his folks were on their wedding day—he thinks. Viewing that day's product, the parents begin to think so too.

I like Irvin Cobb for a lot of things, but none more than his observation that the average boy should be coopered inside a barrel from ages seven to 11—and fed through the bunghole. As a great-grandfather, I'm beginning to agree with Cobb. What happens to a kid from seven to 11 is pretty much going to influence his whole life.

* * *

SO WHAT? Well, the old-fashioned mother stuck with her boy and stayed boss. She was too busy bringing him up to study any newfangled technique to ease her burden.

She just brought him up by being with him; reared him to respect his parents, revere his God, love his country. What a job!

All she knew was that affection, sympathy and understanding come out of a mother's heart, not from lecture platforms and rule books.

She knew too that when the brat got cantankerous no persuader quite equalled a smart wallop across the jaw or a strap across the upturned bottom.

He's Driving His Cares Away!

There's a great industrialist in Detroit, and a well-known scientist in New York, and a famous statesman in Washington who will tell you that the best way to relax from the cares of the day is to get behind the wheel of a 1953 Cadillac.

And there are also thousands upon thousands of other Cadillac owners throughout America who will gladly add supporting testimony to these revealing statements.

For these motorists know, from their own personal experience, that there is no faster or surer way to relax and refresh than to take to the highway with a smooth, comfortable, quiet Cadillac car.

It makes a man feel good just to sit behind the wheel. As he glances about his Cadillac's gracious interior, he's reminded that he has made something out of his years—and that, in itself, gives a lift to his spirits.

And then, once he's out on the highway—well, he's as happy and contented and trouble-free as it's possible for a motorist to be.

He is surrounded with comfort—and his driving is so relaxing and effortless and enjoyable that his mind clears, as the miles go by—and his heart grows gay and his outlook bright and hopeful.

He has literally driven his cares away!

You really ought to try it sometime. Come to think of it, you ought to try it today . . . after your day's work is done.

DEMONSTRATION OF AFFECTION

Today's first letter poses a question of the "how" rather than of the "what:" "My husband and I both leave for work in the morning at the same time and ride part of the way on subway together. When he gets off, he always kisses me good-bye. My sister, who happened to be with us one day, looked rather shocked when he did this and later told me that it is in bad taste to show any display of affection in public. Will you pleave give me your opinion on this?"

According to strict rule, your sister is right, but, at the same time, it would depend very much upon how quickly and inconspicuously he did this. A real embrace would be in very bad taste.

Dear Mrs. Post: Due to a recent fire that almost demolished our house, we have remodeled and refurnished it almost completely. When friends come in to see us, they all comment on how beautifully this, that or the other detail is. My problem is how to answer such compliments. I have been saying "thank you" but this gets a little monotonous and also sounds very smug. I would appreciate any suggestions you have to offer.

Answer: "Thank you" is the correct answer to make when someone pays you a compliment. You could vary your replies by saying, "I'm so glad you like it. We are very pleased with it."

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married soon at a very small wedding with just the immediate families present. Many of my old friends and relatives do, however know of my forthcoming marriage. I would like to know if wedding announcements should be sent to them anyway, or whether they are sent only to those who do not know of my marriage?

Answer: Correctly, wedding announcements are sent to all those who were not invited to the wedding.

Police also found the decaying corpses of three London playgirls in a cubbyhole and skeletal remains of two other women buried in the garden.

Fiction's Tough Guy As Husband Is Shock To Betty Elliott

TODAY'S WOMEN
BY DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Being married to the toughest guy in fiction's bloodiest detective lineup is something of a shock to Betty Elliott, who comes from a long line of law-abidnig Maine sea captains.

Had Co-eds in Dither

The guy she married, while both were attending the University of Maine, was a big-man-on-campus named Biff Elliott, who had all the co-eds in a dither over his soulful eyes. He looked tough, but really was gentle as a lamb, says Betty. But that was before Hollywood signed him to play Mike Hammer, the love-'em-and-shoot-em detective hero of Mickey Spillane's "I, the Jury."

Now Biff can't remember whether he's Mike or himself, and sometimes startles Betty by growling "hiya, baby!" in his best film manner.

Had One-Room Apartment

Biff and Betty lived in a one-room New York apartment for the last four years, considering life just one long honeymoon. When Biff decided he had to become an actor, Betty cheerfully took a job as a model to pay the rent and buy the meat and potatoes.

Then a Hollywood scout saw Biff playing a tough role on TV, and tagged him as the perfect Mike Hammer. He was whisked to Hollywood for a screen test, met Producer Victor Saville, was signed and started work in a matter of days.

He was gone six weeks, while Betty fidgeted in New York. When he came home, she was at the airport to meet him. But so were a couple of voluptuous blonde twins who played in the picture, a publicity man and a battery of photographers.

Betty was left standing on the wrong side of the gate while the photographers took pictures of Mike embracing the blondes. Then Betty remembered that she is a descendant of Nathan Hale, and walked firmly up to the guard at the gate, saying:

That's My Husband

"That's my husband out there being mauled by those blondes. Will you let me through?"

"Yes, ma'am!" said the guard, undoubtedly a married man himself. "And you'd better hurry!"

Biff protests his heart belongs only to Betty, and that Hollywood isn't going to turn his head. That's okay with Betty, but she's going with him when he goes back next fall to start work on the remaining four Spillane thrillers for which he has been signed. Says she:

Hope for Normal Life

"I can see already that in New York the teen-agers are going to be chasing Biff for autographs and trying to tear off a hunk of his shirt for a souvenir. But I figure that in Hollywood there are so many stars that people don't care so much, and maybe we can lead a normal life."

Had Good Training

Biff has had good training for his tough-guy role. As a youth he fought in every local boxing match he could find. Then came the war, when he tramped with the infantry through North Africa and Italy and learned "dirty fighting" from members of the French Foreign Legion.

He entered the University of Maine under the GI Bill of Rights, studied animal husbandry and home economics, met Betty as a sophomore and married her in his junior year. On graduation, they struck a bee-line for New York, fame and fortune. It took four years to achieve the last two goals, but now they are firmly in hand.

New York Is Given Warning of Winds

New York, June 22 (AP)—The weather bureau warned at noon (EST) today New York city could expect thundersqualls with winds of around 50 miles an hour "in an hour or two."

The bureau said its radarscope picked up "what looked like some thunderstorm activity" about 75 miles from here to the northwest.

It placed the thunderstorm around the New Jersey-Pennsylvania border about 11 a. m. and about an hour later was in the vicinity of Morristown, N. J.

90,000 Learn to Drive

Albany, June 22 (AP) — More than 90,000 teen-agers are learning to drive automobiles in the state's fastest-growing high school course. Driver training classes are offered at 583, or nearly 70 per cent, of New York's 840 public high schools, the State Education Department said today. Five years ago the course was available at only 14 per cent of the schools. Now about 1,000 teachers conduct the course.

Treated for Wound

Police were notified at 3:30 p. m., Saturday that Henry Stokeley, 49, of East Kingston, was treated at Kingston Hospital for an apparent stab wound behind an ear. Detectives Clarence Brophy and Frank Sammons investigated and reported that Stokeley had been hit with a glass pitcher during a dispute at an Ann street house. No charge or arrest followed the incident.

In recent years, Sweden's shipyards have often accounted for 1/10 of the world's new ship tonnage.

Clark Feels . . . .

"I am authorized at the present time to sign the armistice which has been drawn up."

Asked if Rhee would accept an armistice that doesn't unify North and South Korea, Clark smiled and answered:

"I hope so."

The UN commander said "hypothetically * * * (a truce) could be obtained" even with South Korea opposing, but added:

"Whether it is violated or not is another thing."

Asked if such a truce would be useless, he answered:

"It would depend on the amount of co-operation (by South Korea)."

Clark described his talk with the firey, 78 year old South Korean President as "friendly and encouraging" and said both had agreed to use such a description.

No Policy Outlined

The general said he did not outline any new U. S. policy and added that President Eisenhower's offer to negotiate a mutual security pact with South Korea after a truce had not been withdrawn.

He also said there was nothing to a report he was given authority by Washington to declare martial law in South Korea if he felt it necessary. Clark said he never had considered such an action and reminded newsmen South Korea is a sovereign state.

Clark said he received a new letter from Rhee just before leaving Tokyo and that it covered many subjects, but he would not discuss it.

Only a short time earlier, South Korea's acting prime minister, Pyun Yung Tai, told reporters his country had given his troops to the UN command and could take them back if it desired.

Pyun said there would be no further mass releases of anti-Communist North Korean prisoners if the allied command guaranteed that no Indian troops or Communist "brain washers" would enter South Korea.

Would Guard Prisoners

Under terms of the armistice that awaits signing at Panmunjom Indian troops would guard anti-Communist prisoners while in custody of a five-nation repatriation commission and Communist representatives would be permitted to give "explanations" about return to North Korea or Red China.

New, but small and scattered breakouts of anti-Communist Korean prisoners were reported from several UN camps.

They brought to 27,160 the number of escapees.

Nearly 100 anti-Communist Chinese prisoners escaped Monday from a special interrogation compound at Pusan, but were quickly rounded up by South Korean police.

Rhee spent a busy day.

He talked in the morning with Gen. Sun Yup Paik, his army chief of staff. What they said was not divulged.

Rhee also conferred with his prime minister, Paik Too Chin, who flew in from a tour of Europe and the United States.

And in Washington, it was reported that Switzerland, India and Sweden have assured the U. S. they are willing to serve on the repatriation commission. Poland and Czehoslovakia are the other two prospective members.

Heavy Rains Hit

high of 96 degrees. Record for June 21 was 101 degrees recorded in 1949.

Ulster Heights Storm

State police at the Ellenville station, which is located on Route 209 at Wawarsing, said they heard reports that there was "quite a storm" at Ulster Heights and Grahamsville on Sunday, but at the station they had "not a drop" of rain.

A Wallkill resident reported he drove through a heavy rain one mile south of Wallkill on Sunday, but when he arrived in the village everything was dry and he was told it had not rained there at all.

An estimated 45,000 tons of clay bank slid down on Route 209 opposite Kopp's Garage at Kerhonkson on Sunday. State highway crews cleared the roadbed the same day, but were still busy today with the huge slide along the side of the road.

For no apparent reason, the clay bank "let loose," almost catching a motorist, it was reported. Engineers were unable to explain the reason for the slide, the area being dry at the time.

Rhee spent a busy day.

He talked in the morning with Gen. Sun Yup Paik, his army chief of staff. What they said was not divulged.

Rhee also conferred with his prime minister, Paik Too Chin, who flew in from a tour of Europe and the United States.

And in Washington, it was reported that Switzerland, India and Sweden have assured the U. S. they are willing to serve on the repatriation commission. Poland and Czehoslovakia are the other two prospective members.

Ulster Heights Storm

State police at the Ellenville station, which is located on Route 209 at Wawarsing, said they heard reports that there was "quite a storm" at Ulster Heights and Grahamsville on Sunday, but at the station they had "not a drop" of rain.

A Wallkill resident reported he drove through a heavy rain one mile south of Wallkill on Sunday, but when he arrived in the village everything was dry and he was told it had not rained there at all.

An estimated 45,000 tons of clay bank slid down on Route 209 opposite Kopp's Garage at Kerhonkson on Sunday. State highway crews cleared the roadbed the same day, but were still busy today with the huge slide along the side of the road.

For no apparent reason, the clay bank "let loose," almost catching a motorist, it was reported. Engineers were unable to explain the reason for the slide, the area being dry at the time.

As Pegler Sees It

who always ran with David K. Niles under Roosevelt-Truman. Goldsmith collects money from clandestine donors and sluices it into Montana, Nevada, Vermont and other states where a few thousand can do a lot. Twice Ike's brother, Arthur, showed up in rooms across the hall from Goldsmith and when caught in the act he acted like anybody caught in the act. Pretty soon it was let out that Ike had signed a "testimonial" to Goldsmith, arranged by Congressmen Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and Case of New Jersey. Two White House secretaries denied up and down that Ike had signed anything for Goldsmith, but Case finally confessed and Scott disappeared in a cloud of evasions. Now they are ashamed to discuss it and Goldsmith is stuck with an "honor" whose value seems negligible. Jim Hagerty, Ike's press secretary, says that if Ike did sign it, he didn't realize it.

The other day, Lessing Rosenwald, described as a "philanthropist," attended one of Ike's dinners along with Herbert Hoover and General MacArthur. "Philanthropist" he may be, but Rosenwald gave $5,000 and his wife $1,000 to Goldsmith's letterhead committee on national affairs in 1948 and Goldsmith sent $2,500 of it to help the Democrat Estes Kefauver against Republican Carroll Reece in Tennessee.

These are the types of Republicans Ike is running with now.

Werdel, in California, fought as a true Republican against Warren, who is a selfish hybrid aloof even from the interests of his own party. Werdel was beaten. Now he is ignored like Kellems, but Goldsmith gets a letter of flattery after showing Ike's brother the fleshpots of the big city.

Why We Say . .

. . . Noisy people

This modern slang expression traces its origin to England in the 17th century where pickpockets would start a racket or noise on the street in order to attract a crowd of victims.

Shokan

Shokan, June 20—Callers in the hub of the reservoir country Thursday included Gus Cunavales, Kingston War 2 veteran, who was returning home from a business trip to the mountains. Gus is building a home in the Lucas avenue section of Kingston suburbs. Traveling representative of a tobacco company, his duties will next take him to the state capital district for a few weeks.

There are now four dens of Cub Scouts in Olive with a den mother and a committeeman for each unit. There are many other boys who would like to join the Cubs but are unable to do so because of a lack of leaders in their respective communities. Men and women who would like to help along this line may contact Chairman W. H. John of West Shokan.

George L. Berry, Sr., who died at his West Hurley home Wednesday was well known in this section as a life insurance company representative for 20 years. George and Mrs. Berry had built an attractive residence and guest cabins at the rock cut in Hurley, and this spring were completing a new home at the same location along the north side of the Onteora Trail.

Guests at the Robert B. Peck summer home near Tice TenEyck Mountain include Mrs. Robert Peck, Jr., her two sons, Andrew and Robert, and Eve Peterson, all of New York. Junior Peck, a War 2 veteran, plans to come here soon for a three weeks vacation sojourn.

The annual hegira to the Catskills which invariably sets in when school lets out in the metropolis, is now underway. As early as Wednesday there was a noticeable increase in the number of cars, loaded to the gunwales with kids and baggage, buzzing up the trail. Traveling men report that business people in the mountain resort centers anticipate a big season (a pleasing prospect after the pretty dull winter and spring).

The death of William Greene Wednesday further reduces the number of local old timers who were adults in the several Olive old villages whose foundation walls have lain covered by Ashokan Reservoir waters for forty years. Will was survivor of the four children of George and Mary (Tyler) Greene whose farm home was not far north of the present dividing weir. As a young man he conducted a barber shop in the "tin shop," a large building owned by the late Zadoc P. Boice in old West Shokan. He bought the Northwell Everett house in Shokan and lived there for a while, later residing at Ashokan.

When a person is struck by lightning, he probably is hit first by an electrical charge traveling from the ground toward the charge descending from the clouds.

SOUND VALUES AT DISCOUNTS

Uncle Sam's dollar obligations deserve attention. Reading these lines will be hundreds of conservative investors who bought his 2½ per cent bonds at 100. And the facts stated here will be perused by many people whose financial operations should be broadened immediately.

In this article I shall address myself to several divergent groups and individuals. Problems with their analyses will be briefly outlined. This article is really an open letter to those with whom in recent months and years I have had contacts.

1. To trustees and members of capital management committees: You may be the fiduciary agents of sizable U. S. Government bond portfolios. Perhaps you bought $100,000 of Uncle Sam's 2½ per cent bonds at 100. And today they are 90. You have a paper loss of $10,000 and members of your committees, fearful that interest rates are going higher, favor taking a loss before the bond prices go lower.

The bonds are due in 1964. That is 11 years away. You also have substantial savings deposits earning 2 per cent a year. What should you do? Buy $25,000 or $50,000 additional bonds for about $22,500 or $45,000 respectively.

With government bonds selling at a discount, now is a good time to remind the most conservative investors that every security carries risk. Those who are wise confront risk courageously and act accordingly. $50,000 of Uncle Sam's obligations, due in about a decade, will pay $1,250 a year and in a few years they will return a profit of about $5,000 to patient purchasers. The risk is pretty well out of them.

2. There are thousands of commonstock owners who should immediately diversify their wealth. Most equity prices have boomed in recent years. A well-ordered financial program recognizes the deflationary aspects of the national economy as well as the inflationary. Fixed dollar values protect against deflation; and some equities (stocks) against inflation. In this kind of world it is well to have some of both.

Here is how a young executive in his early 30s has worked out his own problem: he has 400 shares of the best stocks in America. They are worth $26,000. One is a motor, the other an oil. They cost him $9,400. He has sold 300 of these shares for $20,000 and he has just bought $20,000 United States Government 3¼ bonds of 1978-83 for $19,640. These long-term bonds are selling at a discount.

The $650 yearly interest is going into a $25,000 life insurance policy. Thus, starting about 10 years ago with a fortunate purchase of 200 shares of sound common stocks for $9,400 (both have split 2 for 1 in the meantime) this young man now has . . . 100 shares of a sound automobile stock, $20,000 U. S. Government 3¼ bonds due in 25 years, $25,000 life insurance policy.

He is doing well. His pattern of financial security should be followed by thousands who have stock market profits.

3. Grace Sanborn is a young stenographer, 26. She is efficient and thrifty. She has $1,400 in the savings bank. Very good. That is her margin of economic safety. She has no insurance. What should this government bonds-at-a-discount mean to her? Considerable.

She withdraws $900 of her savings which, at 2 per cent, are paying her $18 a year. With this money she buys a government 2½ per cent bond due in 15 years. She gets a $1,000 obligation for $900 that will pay her $25 a year. And with about $23 of this interest money, she buys a $1,000 life insurance policy. Her savings bank account, somewhat reorganized, has enabled her to broaden her financial program in an admirable way. She now has . . .

$500 in the savings bank
$1,000 U-S Government 2½ per cent bond
$1,000 life insurance policy

It is my judgment that Uncle Sam's obligations, now selling at an interesting discount, invite the sound reorganization of thousands of capitalists' financial affairs.

(Q) "How important is insurance in an investor's life?"

(A) Very important. Paying insurance premiums forces people to save. Many well-meaning investors will never accumulate $5,000; $10,000; $25,000 unless and until they purchase an insurance contract for these amounts. My own largest endowment policy matures in 1960. Paying the yearly premiums has often demanded sacrifice. But without that contract those savings would never have been made. I would have spent the money for creature comforts. Everybody able to get insurance should buy some.

Robert W. Vining Ordained Baptist Minister June 16

Robert William Vining, son of Mr. and Mrs. Scott O. Vining of 140 Main street, Kingston, was ordained to the ministry in ceremonies at the First Baptist Church, Saugerties, June 16.

The Rev. Herman Underwood of the Gilboa Baptist Church acted as moderator of the meeting and called on Jansen Dederick to serve as song leader. After the singing of a number of hymns, the Rev. George Straw of the First Summit Baptist Church, Charlotteville, lead in prayer. The Rev. Davis Gage of the Westerlo Baptist Church, clerk of the ordaining council, read the minutes of the afternoon meeting. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beikert sang a duet, Love Divine and later in the meeting, Beikert sang a solo, Why Should He Love Me So. The Rev. Wayne J. Shellenberger of the Tabernacle Baptist Church of Poughkeepsie read the Scripture.

The message of the evening was brought by the brother of the candidate, the Rev. Scott E. Vining of the Cranberry Creek Community Church, who spoke on The Man Who Couldn't Keep Quiet. The Rev. Mr. Vining told how the prophets had the message of the Lord Jesus Christ in their hearts and they could not keep quiet.

The Rev. Mr. Vining said the ministers of the Gospel should speak as plainly as Jeremiah, as simply as Peter and John, as lovingly as Paul and as courageously as Martin Luther.

The charge to the candidate was delivered by the Rev. Robert Hahn of the Grapeville Baptist Church, who said the candidate must be a strong soldier in the army of the Lord and not be entangled with the affairs of this life.

The charge to the First Baptist Church of Saugerties was delivered by the Rev. Herbert C. Johnson of the Broadalbin Baptist Church, who spoke of the qualifications of the preacher as found in the Book of Romans and said that the servant must be a man of prayer, and a man who cannot keep quiet. It is the duty of the church to pray faithfully for the one they are sending forth to the front lines to take the attacks, he said.

The Rev. Joseph Stowell of the First Baptist Church, Hackensack, N. J., gave the candidate the Right Hand of Fellowship, and welcomed him as a fellow servant of the Gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Scott O. Vining, father of the candidate, presented the certificate of ordination.

The ordination prayer was offered by the Rev. Harvey D. Ellsworth of Athens while all the other members of the ordaining council gathered around the Rev. Mr. Vining.

The meeting was then turned over to the Rev. Robert William Vining, who expressed his thanks and appreciation to the church and the different individuals who had worked so hard and made his ordination such a happy occasion.

She's Betty to Him

Cowdray Park, England, June 22 (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II is just plain Betty to her handsome husband, the Duke of Edinburgh. The Queen was watching the duke play polo here yesterday when he rode up to her box and tossed her his dark glasses, saying: "Catch these, Betty." Queen Betty missed, and a lady in waiting retrieved the glasses.

Thus, starting about 10 years ago with a fortunate purchase of 200 shares of sound common stocks for $9,400 (both have split 2 for 1 in the meantime) this young man now has . . . 100 shares of a sound automobile stock, $20,000 U. S. Government 3¼ bonds due in 25 years, $25,000 life insurance policy.

He is doing well. His pattern of financial security should be followed by thousands who have stock market profits.

3. Grace Sanborn is a young stenographer, 26. She is efficient and thrifty. She has $1,400 in the savings bank. Very good. That is her margin of economic safety. She has no insurance. What should this government bonds-at-a-discount mean to her? Considerable.

She withdraws $900 of her savings which, at 2 per cent, are paying her $18 a year. With this money she buys a government 2½ per cent bond due in 15 years. She gets a $1,000 obligation for $900 that will pay her $25 a year. And with about $23 of this interest money, she buys a $1,000 life insurance policy. Her savings bank account, somewhat reorganized, has enabled her to broaden her financial program in an admirable way. She now has . . .

$500 in the savings bank
$1,000 U-S Government 2½ per cent bond
$1,000 life insurance policy

It is my judgment that Uncle Sam's obligations, now selling at an interesting discount, invite the sound reorganization of thousands of capitalists' financial affairs.

(Q) "How important is insurance in an investor's life?"

(A) Very important. Paying insurance premiums forces people to save. Many well-meaning investors will never accumulate $5,000; $10,000; $25,000 unless and until they purchase an insurance contract for these amounts. My own largest endowment policy matures in 1960. Paying the yearly premiums has often demanded sacrifice. But without that contract those savings would never have been made. I would have spent the money for creature comforts. Everybody able to get insurance should buy some.

Robert W. Vining Ordained Baptist Minister June 16

Robert William Vining, son of Mr. and Mrs. Scott O. Vining of 140 Main street, Kingston, was ordained to the ministry in ceremonies at the First Baptist Church, Saugerties, June 16.

The Rev. Herman Underwood of the Gilboa Baptist Church acted as moderator of the meeting and called on Jansen Dederick to serve as song leader. After the singing of a number of hymns, the Rev. George Straw of the First Summit Baptist Church, Charlotteville, lead in prayer. The Rev. Davis Gage of the Westerlo Baptist Church, clerk of the ordaining council, read the minutes of the afternoon meeting. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beikert sang a duet, Love Divine and later in the meeting, Beikert sang a solo, Why Should He Love Me So. The Rev. Wayne J. Shellenberger of the Tabernacle Baptist Church of Poughkeepsie read the Scripture.

The message of the evening was brought by the brother of the candidate, the Rev. Scott E. Vining of the Cranberry Creek Community Church, who spoke on The Man Who Couldn't Keep Quiet. The Rev. Mr. Vining told how the prophets had the message of the Lord Jesus Christ in their hearts and they could not keep quiet.

The Rev. Mr. Vining said the ministers of the Gospel should speak as plainly as Jeremiah, as simply as Peter and John, as lovingly as Paul and as courageously as Martin Luther.

The charge to the candidate was delivered by the Rev. Robert Hahn of the Grapeville Baptist Church, who said the candidate must be a strong soldier in the army of the Lord and not be entangled with the affairs of this life.

The charge to the First Baptist Church of Saugerties was delivered by the Rev. Herbert C. Johnson of the Broadalbin Baptist Church, who spoke of the qualifications of the preacher as found in the Book of Romans and said that the servant must be a man of prayer, and a man who cannot keep quiet. It is the duty of the church to pray faithfully for the one they are sending forth to the front lines to take the attacks, he said.

The Rev. Joseph Stowell of the First Baptist Church, Hackensack, N. J., gave the candidate the Right Hand of Fellowship, and welcomed him as a fellow servant of the Gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Scott O. Vining, father of the candidate, presented the certificate of ordination.

The ordination prayer was offered by the Rev. Harvey D. Ellsworth of Athens while all the other members of the ordaining council gathered around the Rev. Mr. Vining.

The meeting was then turned over to the Rev. Robert William Vining, who expressed his thanks and appreciation to the church and the different individuals who had worked so hard and made his ordination such a happy occasion.

She's Betty to Him

Cowdray Park, England, June 22 (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II is just plain Betty to her handsome husband, the Duke of Edinburgh. The Queen was watching the duke play polo here yesterday when he rode up to her box and tossed her his dark glasses, saying: "Catch these, Betty." Queen Betty missed, and a lady in waiting retrieved the glasses.

Who Are You—What Do You Do?

(Bennett Cerf in This Week's Magazine)

At a stockholders' meeting, Chairman Irving S. Olds, of the United States Steel Corporation, was about to proceed with the business of the day, when a lady arose from her seat and demanded, "Exactly, who are you and what do you do?"

Without losing one ounce of his equanimity, Mr. Olds replied, "I am your chairman. Of course you know the duties of a chairman. I'd say he was roughly the equivalent of parsley on a platter of fish."

Bill—Gus (as he caught up with Gus on the way back to camp) are all the rest of the boys out of the woods yet?

Gus—Yes.

Bill—All six of them?

Gus—Yes, all six of them.

Bill—And they're all safe?

Gus—Yes, they're all safe.

Bill—Then (his chest swelling) I've shot a deer.

The Russian military commander in East Berlin, Maj. Gen. P. T. Relief Load Might Drop

Bolton Landing, June 22 (AP)—The State Public Welfare Commission predicted today that relief rolls would continue to decline as job opportunities remain high. Robert T. Lansdale said approximately 166,000 welfare recipients had been dropped from the state rolls since the present decline began three years ago. The figure has decreased from 563,000 in April, 1950, to 397,000, he said.

Autopsy Is Ordered

Galietta today ordered an autopsy to determine the cause of death of Mrs. Caroline Mack, 29, of 96 Java street, Brooklyn, who died suddenly at 3 a. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Herman Waldmer, R.D. 4, Kingston, in the Binnewater area. Mrs. Mack was visiting with her husband at the time of her death, the coroner said. The autopsy will be performed by Dr. Herbert Derman of Kingston.

Spies Are . . .

Glendin Patridge, a Presbyterian minister from Montreal, Canada, delivered the final eulogy.

He praised the "true strength of these people who would not put anything—even life itself—above the best they believed in."

"They died in the name of humanity, truth and justice," he said.

Mrs. Sophie Rosenberg, 71-year-old mother of Julius, a black shawl tied around her head and under her chin, wailed in Yiddish: "God, God, why did you do this?"

She tried to throw herself across the caskets as they were to be lowered into the grave side by side. Held back, she fainted.

The Rosenbergs' two sons, Michael, 10, and Robert, 6, remained in seclusion in New Jersey.

The mourners included Julius Rosenberg's two sisters and a brother in addition to his mother. No member of Ethel Rosenberg's family attended.

A family split that began when David Greenglass, her brother, testified against the couple, thus continued to the grave. David is serving a 15-year prison term for his confessed part in the conspiracy.

The Rosenbergs' bodies were brought from Sing Sing Prison to Brooklyn Saturday afternoon. They were placed on view and throughout that night and Sunday until 1 p. m. (EST) the mourning and curious filed past.

Four men, holding American flags, stood by the flower-banked biers.

At times the line of those waiting to get into the chapel stretched four and five abreast for four blocks. The funeral committee estimated 10,000 trooped past the bodies before the funeral.

Nearly 200 policemen were on duty to keep order.

During the evening after the funeral, 30 policemen searched St. Patrick's Cathedral after a telephone warning that a bomb had been placed there.

A woman phoned the cathedral rectory and said "the Catholics" were to blame for the atom spies' execution. Police found no bomb and decided the call was from a crank.

Kingston Magician Got Start at Age of Nine

Edwin Delavan, Sr., of 53 Lawrence street, Kingston magician well-known throughout the mid-Hudson valley area, with some of the materials he uses in his sleight-of-hand tricks. Delavan is also a ventriloquist. (Freeman photo)

Railway Watchman Uses Magic Tricks As Unique Hobby

Sitting in his watch-shed at the Wilbur bridge on the New York Central railroad the fancies of Edwin Delavan, Sr., often turn to magic—or ventriloquism.

This is perfectly natural since Delavan, who resides at 53 Lawrence street, has been dabbling in sleight-of-hand magic since he was nine years old.

He says he got started in magic at that time when he came under the influence of an uncle who was an instructor in the use of magical equipment for a commercial enterprise.

He took a course in the art of ventriloquism in Chicago about 1910.

Since these early beginnings in magic and ventriloquism Delavan has performed throughout Ulster and neighboring counties in night clubs, lodges, at social functions and church events, etc., and is widely known throughout the mid-Hudson valley area.

Now a watchman at the Wilbur bridge Delavan has worked for the railroad since 1917, beginning as a section hand and holding several jobs in the course of his employment.

Joins Kelly's Troupe

During World War 1 he performed on occasion at Hiltebrant's Dry Dock Company, the old armory on Broadway and other spots and later joined Kelly's Musical Troupe, composed of some 50 performers, which toured the Hudson Valley area.

Born in Danbury, Conn., Delavan has made his home in Kingston for many years.

At one time he operated motion picture machines in Kingston.

Delavan still performs, delighting his audiences with his remarkable sleight-of-hand work. He has offered his services to the city parks program and other civic activities in which he can be of service to the youthful population of the city.

To Teach Lessons

Delavan announced today that he was opening a school of magic and ventriloquism at his home. He said he would teach boys and girls sleight-of-hand tricks, instructing them in stage presence, dramatic style, use of the mike, personality effectiveness, how to approach the public, etc. The minimum age will be nine, he said. He may even take adults if they manifest the necessary flexibility.

There will be no age limit in the teaching of ventriloquism, he said.

He says that within a short time the pupil should be able to perform entertainingly on a limited scale and that within four to six months "they should be ready to go out for themselves" and handle any trick in the reportory of sleight-of-hand magic. The length of time required for effective performance depends, of course, on the ability, speed and accuracy of the pupil, Delavan pointed out.

Make Nice Hobbies

Of magic and ventriloquism Delavan remarks that they are really nice to know, that a person can practice them as a "hobby" and have a thoroughly good time, entertaining his friends, performing at social functions, etc.

"Not all will get their names in lights—but some will,' he said.

Jacoby on Canasta

Don't Let Scoring Bother You

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"In a game of Cut-Throat Canasta," writes a Cincinnati correspondent, "all three players sat tight throughout the play of the hand. Nobody picked up the discard pile, and finally had to end the hand. How should this sort of hand be scored? Do we just disregard it completely, or does each person lose the value of the cards held in his hand at the time the deal comes to an end?"

Each player loses the value of the cards that he holds in his hand when the deal comes to an end. This might be a fairly substantial amount if you had several wild card and most of the aces. Somebody else might have a much smaller amount if he had mostly low cards and very few wild cards.

In my own experience it is very unusual for a hand to be played out and come to a standstill in this way. By the time you get near the end of the stock pile the cards in the discard pile should be very valuable to some player at the table. If it does happen, however, the correct method of scoring is to debit each player for the value of the cards in his hand.

* * *

Q—In a game of Samba the player draws one card from the stock pile and then discovers that he can take the discard pile. Is he allowed to switch at that time and take the discard pile, or is he obliged to complete his draw by taking a second card from the stock pile?

A—The player must complete his draw by taking a second card from the stock pile. You are allowed to draw either from the stock pile or (if you can meld properly) from the discard pile—but never from both on the same play.

The moment that you begin to draw from the stock pile you have definitely made your choice, and you must complete your draw by taking both cards from the stock pile.

Q—What is the bonus for going out concealed? Some people say it is 100 points, and other people say that the bonus is 200 points. What is the correct answer?

A—The total bonus for going out concealed is 200 points. The confusion probably arises out of the fact that the bonus of 200 points consists of a normal bonus of 100 points for going out plus an extra bonus of 100 points for going out concealed. When you add these two amounts together, you get a total bonus of 200 points.

Mr. Jacoby is unable to answer individual questions on Canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions in his column.

Wicks Engine Wins First Prize During Firemen's Meeting

The A. H. Wicks Engine Company won the non-member first prize for the best appearance and for having the most men in uniform at the convention parade of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association at Lake George Saturday.

The company, headed by the Port Ewen Fife Drum and Bugle Corps, had 41 men in line, and with them were Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy and members of the Board of Fire Commissioners.

Impellitteri said the agreement was approved recently by all parties and is subject to approval by special U. S. Supreme Court Master Kurt F. Pantzer, who has been holding pre-trial hearings on the issues since June, 1952.

The planned capacity of the reservoir is 91,200,000,000 gallons. City officials hope to have the new major water source by 1965 or soon after. The reservoir would be the final stage in the huge Delaware water supply network which the city began building in the 1930s, but which has not yet been opened. When the network is opened, the city is expected to be drawing more than 800 million gallons a day from the upper Delaware to supplement existing supplies.

pected resistance leaders and there was no way of knowing how many had fallen before Russian army firing squads. At least 20 such dead had been reported. Thousands were reported under arrest.

The Russian military commander in East Berlin, Maj. Gen. P. T. Dibrova, last night rejected a previous allied protest against the Soviet "bloodshed" and "barbarity" but said the way would be cleared to reopen the frontier between East and West Berlin—as the allies had demanded—if the allied commandants would "take all necessary measures to end the sending of provocateurs and other criminal elements into East Berlin."

Relief Load Might Drop

Bolton Landing, June 22 (AP)—The State Public Welfare Commission predicted today that relief rolls would continue to decline as job opportunities remain high. Robert T. Lansdale said approximately 166,000 welfare recipients had been dropped from the state rolls since the present decline began three years ago. The figure has decreased from 563,000 in April, 1950, to 397,000, he said.

Autopsy Is Ordered

Coroner Michael A. Galietta today ordered an autopsy to determine the cause of death of Mrs. Caroline Mack, 29, of 96 Java street, Brooklyn, who died suddenly at 3 a. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Herman Waldmer, R.D. 4, Kingston, in the Binnewater area. Mrs. Mack was visiting with her husband at the time of her death, the coroner said. The autopsy will be performed by Dr. Herbert Derman of Kingston.

Spies Are . . .

Glendin Patridge, a Presbyterian minister from Montreal, Canada, delivered the final eulogy.

He praised the "true strength of these people who would not put anything—even life itself—above the best they believed in."

"They died in the name of humanity, truth and justice," he said.

Mrs. Sophie Rosenberg, 71-year-old mother of Julius, a black shawl tied around her head and under her chin, wailed in Yiddish: "God, God, why did you do this?"

She tried to throw herself across the caskets as they were to be lowered into the grave side by side. Held back, she fainted.

The Rosenbergs' two sons, Michael, 10, and Robert, 6, remained in seclusion in New Jersey.

The mourners included Julius Rosenberg's two sisters and a brother in addition to his mother. No member of Ethel Rosenberg's family attended.

A family split that began when David Greenglass, her brother, testified against the couple, thus continued to the grave. David is serving a 15-year prison term for his confessed part in the conspiracy.

The Rosenbergs' bodies were brought from Sing Sing Prison to Brooklyn Saturday afternoon. They were placed on view and throughout that night and Sunday until 1 p. m. (EST) the mourning and curious filed past.

Four men, holding American flags, stood by the flower-banked biers.

At times the line of those waiting to get into the chapel stretched four and five abreast for four blocks. The funeral committee estimated 10,000 trooped past the bodies before the funeral.

Nearly 200 policemen were on duty to keep order.

During the evening after the funeral, 30 policemen searched St. Patrick's Cathedral after a telephone warning that a bomb had been placed there.

A woman phoned the cathedral rectory and said "the Catholics" were to blame for the atom spies' execution. Police found no bomb and decided the call was from a crank.

Kingston Magician Got Start at Age of Nine

Edwin Delavan, Sr., of 53 Lawrence street, Kingston magician well-known throughout the mid-Hudson valley area, with some of the materials he uses in his sleight-of-hand tricks. Delavan is also a ventriloquist. (Freeman photo)

Railway Watchman Uses Magic Tricks As Unique Hobby

Sitting in his watch-shed at the Wilbur bridge on the New York Central railroad the fancies of Edwin Delavan, Sr., often turn to magic—or ventriloquism.

This is perfectly natural since Delavan, who resides at 53 Lawrence street, has been dabbling in sleight-of-hand magic since he was nine years old.

He says he got started in magic at that time when he came under the influence of an uncle who was an instructor in the use of magical equipment for a commercial enterprise.

He took a course in the art of ventriloquism in Chicago about 1910.

Since these early beginnings in magic and ventriloquism Delavan has performed throughout Ulster and neighboring counties in night clubs, lodges, at social functions and church events, etc., and is widely known throughout the mid-Hudson valley area.

Now a watchman at the Wilbur bridge Delavan has worked for the railroad since 1917, beginning as a section hand and holding several jobs in the course of his employment.

Joins Kelly's Troupe

During World War 1 he performed on occasion at Hiltebrant's Dry Dock Company, the old armory on Broadway and other spots and later joined Kelly's Musical Troupe, composed of some 50 performers, which toured the Hudson Valley area.

Born in Danbury, Conn., Delavan has made his home in Kingston for many years.

At one time he operated motion picture machines in Kingston.

Delavan still performs, delighting his audiences with his remarkable sleight-of-hand work. He has offered his services to the city parks program and other civic activities in which he can be of service to the youthful population of the city.

To Teach Lessons

Delavan announced today that he was opening a school of magic and ventriloquism at his home. He said he would teach boys and girls sleight-of-hand tricks, instructing them in stage presence, dramatic style, use of the mike, personality effectiveness, how to approach the public, etc. The minimum age will be nine, he said. He may even take adults if they manifest the necessary flexibility.

There will be no age limit in the teaching of ventriloquism, he said.

He says that within a short time the pupil should be able to perform entertainingly on a limited scale and that within four to six months "they should be ready to go out for themselves" and handle any trick in the repertory of sleight-of-hand magic. The length of time required for effective performance depends, of course, on the ability, speed and accuracy of the pupil, Delavan pointed out.

Make Nice Hobbies

Of magic and ventriloquism Delavan remarks that they are really nice to know, that a person can practice them as a "hobby" and have a thoroughly good time, entertaining his friends, performing at social functions, etc.

"Not all will get their names in lights—but some will,' he said.

Jacoby on Canasta

Don't Let Scoring Bother You

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"In a game of Cut-Throat Canasta," writes a Cincinnati correspondent, "all three players sat tight throughout the play of the hand. Nobody picked up the discard pile, and finally had to end the hand. How should this sort of hand be scored? Do we just disregard it completely, or does each person lose the value of the cards held in his hand at the time the deal comes to an end?"

Each player loses the value of the cards that he holds in his hand when the deal comes to an end. This might be a fairly substantial amount if you had several wild card and most of the aces. Somebody else might have a much smaller amount if he had mostly low cards and very few wild cards.

In my own experience it is very unusual for a hand to be played out and come to a standstill in this way. By the time you get near the end of the stock pile the cards in the discard pile should be very valuable to some player at the table. If it does happen, however, the correct method of scoring is to debit each player for the value of the cards in his hand.

* * *

Q—In a game of Samba the player draws one card from the stock pile and then discovers that he can take the discard pile. Is he allowed to switch at that time and take the discard pile, or is he obliged to complete his draw by taking a second card from the stock pile?

A—The player must complete his draw by taking a second card from the stock pile. You are allowed to draw either from the stock pile or (if you can meld properly) from the discard pile—but never from both on the same play.

The moment that you begin to draw from the stock pile you have definitely made your choice, and you must complete your draw by taking both cards from the stock pile.

Q—What is the bonus for going out concealed? Some people say it is 100 points, and other people say that the bonus is 200 points. What is the correct answer?

A—The total bonus for going out concealed is 200 points. The confusion probably arises out of the fact that the bonus of 200 points consists of a normal bonus of 100 points for going out plus an extra bonus of 100 points for going out concealed. When you add these two amounts together, you get a total bonus of 200 points.

Mr. Jacoby is unable to answer individual questions on Canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions in his column.

Merchants Meet Jones Dairy In City League Go Tuesday

Redecorating Club

Moore 3-1 Choice

New York, June 22 (AP)—Archie Moore is a 3 to 1 choice to retain his light heavyweight crown when he meets Joey Maxim again in an outdoor show in Ogden, Utah, Wednesday night. The 15-rounder in Ogden Stadium marks the state's first world championship fight. It also will be the first network television show to come out of the city. CBS will telecast the bout starting at 10 p. m., EDT.

Telepas Likely Pitching Choice

Colonial Merchants take on Jones Dairy in the City Baseball League feature Tuesday at the Athletic Field.

Removed from first place in a hectic battle with the undefeated Wiltwyck Motormen, the Merchants realize they have to keep winning to stay within striking distance of the first round pennant.

Manager Pucker Davis has only one game to worry about this week, so George Telepas, the slick southpaw, looks like the logical pitching selection.

Bruce Bechtold, Joe Pecora and Bruce "Red" Hinkley are available for the Dairymen, who play twice, meeting Doblers on Thursday.

Wiltwyck Motors meets the Indians in the Wednesday attraction.

Hot Weather Curtails Three Esopus Little League Games

Two Go Five Innings Other Halted in 4th

Saturday's oppressive heat affected even the Little Leaguers, with the result that the Esopus League shortened both games of a doubleheader to five and four innings.

In one game traffic was quite heavy, with the Indians riding over the Yankees, 15 to 1. In the companion piece, the Dodgers shaded the Giants, 4 to 3, for the Giants' first loss after four wins.

It was the same story Sunday when action in the Indian-Dodger contest was halted with the Indians ahead 4-3.

The weekend activity left the Giants leading the league with four wins and one loss. Dodgers are in second place with a 3-3 record.

Short Pitches 2-Hitter

Bob Short pitched a two-hitter and fanned eight for the Indians against the Yankees to start a two-game winninng skein for the Tribe. Darrell Myers of the Indians and Fred Soehlein of the Yankees hit inside the park homers. Bruce Holmes of the Indians smacked three successive doubles for a '3 for 3" performance and Bob Short pounded three hits in addition to his great pitching performance.

Richard Wenzel matched Short's record by checking the Dodgers with two hits and eight strikeouts, although his team lost. Richard Terpening's two-out double in the fifth accounted for the winning run.

Indians converted four hits into four runs to shade the Dodgers 4 to 3. One of the Dodger tallies was Charlie Turner's inside the park homer. Rich Terpening pounded three singles and Gerry Pridgen had two singles. Terpening tossed the four-hitter and lost it.

City Champion Fires 3-Under 67 On Village Links

Bill Van Aken Two Strokes Behind

A brilliant veteran who has five major golf titles to his credit leads the Herdegen Memorial field at the halfway mark.

Alvin Boice, Twaalfskill's club and city kingpin, toured the Woodstock Country Club's rain-soaked fairways with a sparkling three-under-par 67 Sunday to post a 36-hole total of 137.

Two strokes behind came Bill Van Aken, who also has a large collection of personal trophies, with 139.

A score of 162 was good enough to qualify for 27th place, when Boyer Gonzales, Woodstock champion, qualified at 160 and then announced he would be unable to compete in the finals next weekend. That gave Don Dempsey a chance to slip in 27th place with 162.

Rugged Weather

The two-day qualifying period produced remarkable scoring in the face of oppresive weather conditions. It was steaming hot Saturday at the Shawangunk Country Club in Ellenville when 56 players, a record-breaking field, teed off.

With five threesomes already on the course, a terrific electrical storm broke over Woodstock about 10:30 a. m. Sunday, interrupting play for nearly an hour. The storm subsided in time to enable the field to finish around 5 o'clock.

Ulster county's "Who's Who in Golf" was solidly represented in the top brackets. George Hughes, the 1951 winner, fired 69 yesterday to finish in third place with 141.

Clarence "Dubby" Raichle, 1952 champion, fired a pair of 72's for 144. Then came a three-way tie among Allen Waterous of Woodstock, Dr. Fred Holcomb Jr., and Robert Daley of Wiltwyck at 149.

Bill Kaufman, the long-hitting Rip Van Winkle Country Club ace, posted 150. Maurice and Dick Davenport, the father-son combination, tied with 151's and Roy Vogt had 153.

Van Aken Hits 69

Van Aken led the first day shooters at Shawangunk with a one-over 69 on the par-68 layout. He lost two strokes on the final hole when his approach shot hit the green and bounced out of bounds. He was out in 35 and back in 34.

Boice found the range quickly at Woodstock, firing three birdies on the first nine to move ahead of Van Aken by a stroke at the end of 27. The strong, silent competitor was never headed after that. He matched the card with a birdie and bogie on the back nine. Meanwhile, Van Aken was unable to solve the difficult ninth hole and twice bogied it.

Allen Waterous, the big Woodstock hitter, made the outstanding comeback of the day. He needed 81 strokes at Ellenville but roared back with a 68 on his own course. He birdied the first, fifth and seventh holes on the front nine and then matched the card next time around.

Billy Waterous and Walter Seaton of Woodstock joined the qualifying group with 154 and 155 respectively. Waterous, one of the promising young stars in the county, spliced rounds of 80-74 and Seaton hit 79-76.

Bailey Rallies

J. Watson Bailey, one of the old pros, rallied from an 82 opener to a 74 Sunday and was safely in with 156, a figure matched by Charles Gaffney, who posted 37 on his last nine. Louis G. Bruhn and Norman Foster (Woodstock) tied with 157's. There was a three-way tie at 158 among Henry Leininger, Gerry Wells and Clyde Wonderly, Jr.

Hank Boice of Twaalfskill, Harold Harris of Shawangunk and Brian Smith of Wiltwyck qualified with 159's. Then came the scramble for the last places. Joe Blackwell of Ellenville, Ronnie Marks and Boyer Gonzales tied with 160 and Maurice Hand had 161. That left one place open and Don Dempsey took it with 162.

The tournament switches to Wiltwyck Golf Club next Saturday at 1 p. m., with the 18-hole finals on Sunday at 10 a. m. at Twaalfskill.

Santee Streaks

Lincoln, Neb., June 22 (AP) — Wes Santee, a lean running machine from the plains of Kansas, now owns the two fastest miles ever run by an American — achieved in two consecutive starts in a span of 16 days—a remarkable feat. Wes hung up a 4:02.4 in a night meet at Compton, Calif., June 5. That was the fastest an American had ever traveled the distance. Then last Saturday evening he had a 4:03.7 in the NCAA meet here—the second fastest time.

Telepas Likely Pitching Choice

Colonial Merchants take on Jones Dairy in the City Baseball League feature Tuesday at the Athletic Field.

Removed from first place in a hectic battle with the undefeated Wiltwyck Motormen, the Merchants realize they have to keep winning to stay within striking distance of the first round pennant.

Manager Pucker Davis has only one game to worry about this week, so George Telepas, the slick southpaw, looks like the logical pitching selection.

Bruce Bechtold, Joe Pecora and Bruce "Red" Hinkley are available for the Dairymen, who play twice, meeting Doblers on Thursday.

Wiltwyck Motors meets the Indians in the Wednesday attraction.

Hot Weather Curtails Three Esopus Little League Games

Two Go Five Innings Other Halted in 4th

Saturday's oppressive heat affected even the Little Leaguers, with the result that the Esopus League shortened both games of a doubleheader to five and four innings.

In one game traffic was quite heavy, with the Indians riding over the Yankees, 15 to 1. In the companion piece, the Dodgers shaded the Giants, 4 to 3, for the Giants' first loss after four wins.

It was the same story Sunday when action in the Indian-Dodger contest was halted with the Indians ahead 4-3.

The weekend activity left the Giants leading the league with four wins and one loss. Dodgers are in second place with a 3-3 record.

Short Pitches 2-Hitter

Bob Short pitched a two-hitter and fanned eight for the Indians against the Yankees to start a two-game winninng skein for the Tribe. Darrell Myers of the Indians and Fred Soehlein of the Yankees hit inside the park homers. Bruce Holmes of the Indians smacked three successive doubles for a "3 for 3" performance and Bob Short pounded three hits in addition to his great pitching performance.

Richard Wenzel matched Short's record by checking the Dodgers with two hits and eight strikeouts, although his team lost. Richard Terpening's two-out double in the fifth accounted for the winning run.

Indians converted four hits into four runs to shade the Dodgers 4 to 3. One of the Dodger tallies was Charlie Turner's inside the park homer. Rich Terpening pounded three singles and Gerry Pridgen had two singles. Terpening tossed the four-hitter and lost it.

City Champion Fires 3-Under 67 On Village Links

Bill Van Aken Two Strokes Behind

A brilliant veteran who has five major golf titles to his credit leads the Herdegen Memorial field at the halfway mark.

Alvin Boice, Twaalfskill's club and city kingpin, toured the Woodstock Country Club's rain-soaked fairways with a sparkling three-under-par 67 Sunday to post a 36-hole total of 137.

Two strokes behind came Bill Van Aken, who also has a large collection of personal trophies, with 139.

A score of 162 was good enough to qualify for 27th place, when Boyer Gonzales, Woodstock champion, qualified at 160 and then announced he would be unable to compete in the finals next weekend. That gave Don Dempsey a chance to slip in 27th place with 162.

Rugged Weather

The two-day qualifying period produced remarkable scoring in the face of oppresive weather conditions. It was steaming hot Saturday at the Shawangunk Country Club in Ellenville when 56 players, a record-breaking field, teed off.

With five threesomes already on the course, a terrific electrical storm broke over Woodstock about 10:30 a. m. Sunday, interrupting play for nearly an hour. The storm subsided in time to enable the field to finish around 5 o'clock.

Ulster county's "Who's Who in Golf" was solidly represented in the top brackets. George Hughes, the 1951 winner, fired 69 yesterday to finish in third place with 141.

Clarence "Dubby" Raichle, 1952 champion, fired a pair of 72's for 144. Then came a three-way tie among Allen Waterous of Woodstock, Dr. Fred Holcomb Jr., and Robert Daley of Wiltwyck at 149.

Bill Kaufman, the long-hitting Rip Van Winkle Country Club ace, posted 150. Maurice and Dick Davenport, the father-son combination, tied with 151's and Roy Vogt had 153.

Van Aken Hits 69

Van Aken led the first day shooters at Shawangunk with a one-over 69 on the par-68 layout. He lost two strokes on the final hole when his approach shot hit the green and bounced out of bounds. He was out in 35 and back in 34.

Boice found the range quickly at Woodstock, firing three birdies on the first nine to move ahead of Van Aken by a stroke at the end of 27. The strong, silent competitor was never headed after that. He matched the card with a birdie and bogie on the back nine. Meanwhile, Van Aken was unable to solve the difficult ninth hole and twice bogied it.

Allen Waterous, the big Woodstock hitter, made the outstanding comeback of the day. He needed 81 strokes at Ellenville but roared back with a 68 on his own course. He birdied the first, fifth and seventh holes on the front nine and then matched the card next time around.

Billy Waterous and Walter Seaton of Woodstock joined the qualifying group with 154 and 155 respectively. Waterous, one of the promising young stars in the county, spliced rounds of 80-74 and Seaton hit 79-76.

Bailey Rallies

J. Watson Bailey, one of the old pros, rallied from an 82 opener to a 74 Sunday and was safely in with 156, a figure matched by Charles Gaffney, who posted 37 on his last nine. Louis G. Bruhn and Norman Foster (Woodstock) tied with 157's. There was a three-way tie at 158 among Henry Leininger, Gerry Wells and Clyde Wonderly, Jr.

Hank Boice of Twaalfskill, Harold Harris of Shawangunk and Brian Smith of Wiltwyck qualified with 159's. Then came the scramble for the last places. Joe Blackwell of Ellenville, Ronnie Marks and Boyer Gonzales tied with 160 and Maurice Hand had 161. That left one place open and Don Dempsey took it with 162.

The tournament switches to Wiltwyck Golf Club next Saturday at 1 p. m., with the 18-hole finals on Sunday at 10 a. m. at Twaalfskill.

Lincoln, Neb., June 22 (AP) — Wes Santee, a lean running machine from the plains of Kansas, now owns the two fastest miles ever run by an American — achieved in two consecutive starts in a span of 16 days—a remarkable feat. Wes hung up a 4:02.4 in a night meet at Compton, Calif., June 5. That was the fastest an American had ever traveled the distance. Then last Saturday evening he had a 4:03.7 in the NCAA meet here—the second fastest time.

Yankees Threaten Cubs' Winning Record of 116

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

If the New York Yankees keep pouring it on, they'll break the 1906 Chicago Cubs' all-time record of winning 116 games. Unless something cracks, they should be able to take a month vacation in September and bring up the Kansas City club to finish out the schedule.

After yesterday's split with Detroit, the Yanks were playing 46-14 ball for a .767 percentage. At the same rate they'll wind up at 118-36 for .766. High for the American League is the Yanks 110 victories in 1927.

With an 11½ game lead at this stage of the race, the American League record of a 19½-game pennant winning margin by the 1936 Yanks also is in danger. They might even threaten that fabulous 26½ game lead held by Pittsburgh's 1902 champs in the National.

Cleveland Slips

The Yanks took advantage of another lapse by Cleveland yesterday, dividing a doubleheader with Detroit as the Indians lost to Washington, 5-1. As a result, New York picked up another half game on the Tribe, now threatened from below by Chicago. New York won the first game, 6-3, for Whitey Ford on homers by Mickey Mantle, Billy Martin and Yogi Berra but lost the second, 10-3, as Walt Dropo drove in four runs with a homer and two singles.

Chicago climbed within a game of Cleveland by breaking even with Philadelphia. The White Sox came back to cop the second, 9-4, on homers by Fred Marsh, Ferris Fain and Minnie Minosos after Harry Byrd shut them out with seven hits, 5-0, in the first game.

The St. Louis Browns broke a six-game losing streak on Bobo Holloman's two-hit 2-0 winner over Boston in the second game after losing the opener, 3-1, on Skinny Brown's flashy three-hitter.

Gomez Sparkles

Milwaukee staged another of its comebacks to get a 6-6 tie with the New York Giants in a second game, called by darkness after eight innings, following a 5-0 defeat in the opener when Ruben Gomez threw a fine two-hitter.

Because Brooklyn bowed to Chicago, 3-2, on a 10th inning homer by Eddie Miksis, an ex-Dodger, the Milwaukee National League lead remained intact at 2½ games.

Only Philadelphia among the first division clubs gained on Milwaukee. St. Louis' five-game winning streak went up in smoke as Pittsburgh dumped the Cardinals, 5-2, and Philadelphia split a pair with Cincinnati, winning the first, 5-2, but dropping the second, 5-3, on Gus Bell's 15th homer with two men on.

Milwaukee attendance, boosted by a near-capacity crowd of 34,343, sent the home attendance to 525,823 for 21 playing dates, first in the majors to pass the half million mark.

Bard Graduates 42 at Exercises

Annandale-on-Hudson, June 22—At Bard College's 93rd Commencement exercises Saturday, June 20, 42 students received the degree of bachelor of arts and honorary degrees were conferred upon Ordway Tead, member, Board of Higher Education, New York city, Doctor of Letters; Menelaos D. Hassialis, Professor of Mineral Engineering, Columbia School of Mines, Doctor of Science; Philipp Frank, philosopher and physicist, Doctor of Humane Letters; the Reverend John Heuss, Rector of Trinity Church in New York city and an alumnus of the college, Class of 1929, Doctor of Divinity.

In his address to the graduating class Tead urged them "to get involved" in the life of their communities. He stated that people with college educations must make themselves count; that, if their college education had helped them to grasp how the "great imperative—to be intelligent, to be loving, to be reverent" is to be lived, it had made for them "all the difference in the world."

Prizes awarded included the Lockwood Prizes—one to the senior "who has contributed most to the intellectual life of the college," which went to Yale Roy Nemerson of New York; the other to the senior "who has contributed most to the welfare of the college," Naomi Ruth Bellinson of Douglaston. The William Kolodney Prize in Painting, awarded for the first time, was conferred upon Peter Hoag of Rochester.

For outstanding scholarship during the past year seven students were named John Bard Scholars: in the Division of Art, Music, Drama and Dance, Albert Aaron of Detroit, Mich., and Sandra Mowbray-Clarke of New York; in the Division of Languages and Literature, Gabriele Bernhard of New York and Martin Dinitz of New Rochelle, New York; in the Division of Natural Science, Ezra Shahn of New York; and in the Division of Social Studies, Charles McIntosh of Waukesha, Wisconsin, and Trubee Miller of Huntington Station.

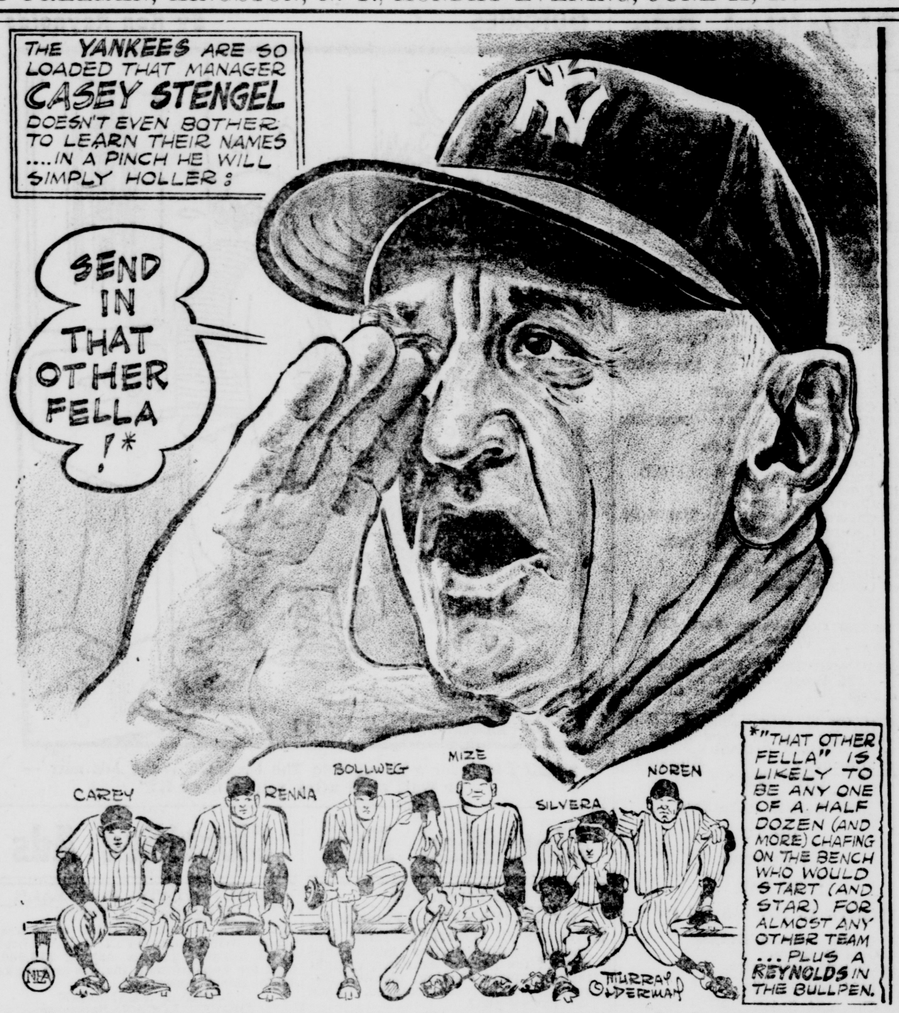

National Foot Comfort Week to Be Observed

"The automobile," says Dr. W. M. Scholl, internationally famous authority on foot ailments, "has certainly brought about great changes in our lives. But any idea that it has made any considerable difference in the amount of over-all walking done by the average man or woman is not borne out by the facts. The average homemaker, for example, still takes approximately 30,000 steps a day, the equivalent of over seven miles of walking."

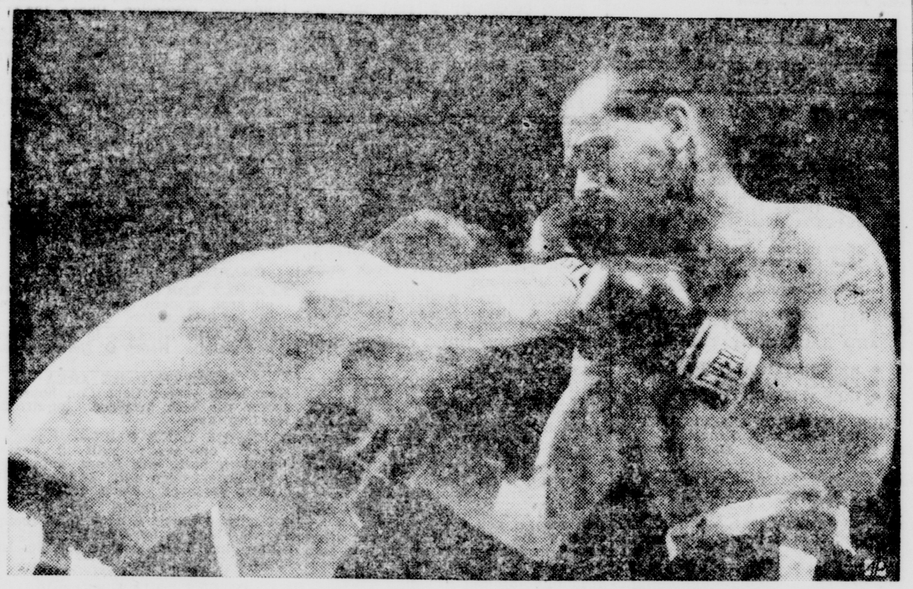

"The feet," Dr. Scholl continues," still have, and will undoubtedly continue to have, a big job to do and any departure, however slight, from a normally healthy foot condition should be corrected immediately. Few people realize that foot ills may, and frequently do, result in aches and pains in other parts of the body the true cause of which is unsuspected."

It is estimated that some 80 per cent of the women of the nation suffer from some form of foot trouble, largely due, says Dr. Scholl, to the fact that women all too often wear shoes that are easy on the eyes, but not so easy on the feet. Men do not have the "vanity" problem to the same degree, but the incidence of foot ailments among American males is still high.

During Dr. Scholl's Foot Comfort Week thousands of drug, shoe, department and variety stores throughout the United States will cooperate in calling attention, by means of special displays and demonstrations, to the importance of proper foot care, and to helping their customers obtain relief from painful foot conditions.

Yankees Threaten Cubs' Winning Record of 116

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

If the New York Yankees keep pouring it on, they'll break the 1906 Chicago Cubs' all-time record of winning 116 games. Unless something cracks, they should be able to take a month vacation in September and bring up the Kansas City club to finish out the schedule.

After yesterday's split with Detroit, the Yanks were playing 46-14 ball for a .767 percentage. At the same rate they'll wind up at 118-36 for .766. High for the American League is the Yanks 110 victories in 1927.

With an 11½ game lead at this stage of the race, the American League record of a 19½-game pennant winning margin by the 1936 Yanks also is in danger. They might even threaten that fabulous 26½ game lead held by Pittsburgh's 1902 champs in the National.

Cleveland Slips

The Yanks took advantage of another lapse by Cleveland yesterday, dividing a doubleheader with Detroit as the Indians lost to Washington, 5-1. As a result, New York picked up another half game on the Tribe, now threatened from below by Chicago. New York won the first game, 6-3, for Whitey Ford on homers by Mickey Mantle, Billy Martin and Yogi Berra but lost the second, 10-3, as Walt Dropo drove in four runs with a homer and two singles.

Chicago climbed within a game of Cleveland by breaking even with Philadelphia. The White Sox came back to cop the second, 9-4, on homers by Fred Marsh, Ferris Fain and Minnie Minosos after Harry Byrd shut them out with seven hits, 5-0, in the first game.

The St. Louis Browns broke a six-game losing streak on Bobo Holloman's two-hit 2-0 winner over Boston in the second game after losing the opener, 3-1, on Skinny Brown's flashy three-hitter.

Gomez Sparkles

Milwaukee staged another of its comebacks to get a 6-6 tie with the New York Giants in a second game, called by darkness after eight innings, following a 5-0 defeat in the opener when Ruben Gomez threw a fine two-hitter.

Because Brooklyn bowed to Chicago, 3-2, on a 10th inning homer by Eddie Miksis, an ex-Dodger, the Milwaukee National League lead remained intact at 2½ games.

Only Philadelphia among the first division clubs gained on Milwaukee. St. Louis' five-game winning streak went up in smoke as Pittsburgh dumped the Cardinals, 5-2, and Philadelphia split a pair with Cincinnati, winning the first, 5-2, but dropping the second, 5-3, on Gus Bell's 15th homer with two men on.

Milwaukee attendance, boosted by a near-capacity crowd of 34,343, sent the home attendance to 525,823 for 21 playing dates, first in the majors to pass the half million mark.

Bard Graduates 42 at Exercises

Annandale-on-Hudson, June 22—At Bard College's 93rd Commencement exercises Saturday, June 20, 42 students received the degree of bachelor of arts and honorary degrees were conferred upon Ordway Tead, member, Board of Higher Education, New York city, Doctor of Letters; Menelaos D. Hassialis, Professor of Mineral Engineering, Columbia School of Mines, Doctor of Science; Philipp Frank, philosopher and physicist, Doctor of Humane Letters; the Reverend John Heuss, Rector of Trinity Church in New York city and an alumnus of the college, Class of 1929, Doctor of Divinity.

In his address to the graduating class Tead urged them "to get involved" in the life of their communities. He stated that people with college educations must make themselves count; that, if their college education had helped them to grasp how the "great imperative—to be intelligent, to be loving, to be reverent" is to be lived, it had made for them "all the difference in the world."

Prizes awarded included the Lockwood Prizes—one to the senior "who has contributed most to the intellectual life of the college," which went to Yale Roy Nemerson of New York; the other to the senior "who has contributed most to the welfare of the college," Naomi Ruth Bellinson of Douglaston. The William Kolodney Prize in Painting, awarded for the first time, was conferred upon Peter Hoag of Rochester.

For outstanding scholarship during the past year seven students were named John Bard Scholars: in the Division of Art, Music, Drama and Dance, Albert Aaron of Detroit, Mich., and Sandra Mowbray-Clarke of New York; in the Division of Languages and Literature, Gabriele Bernhard of New York and Martin Dinitz of New Rochelle, New York; in the Division of Natural Science, Ezra Shahn of New York; and in the Division of Social Studies, Charles McIntosh of Waukesha, Wisconsin, and Trubee Miller of Huntington Station.

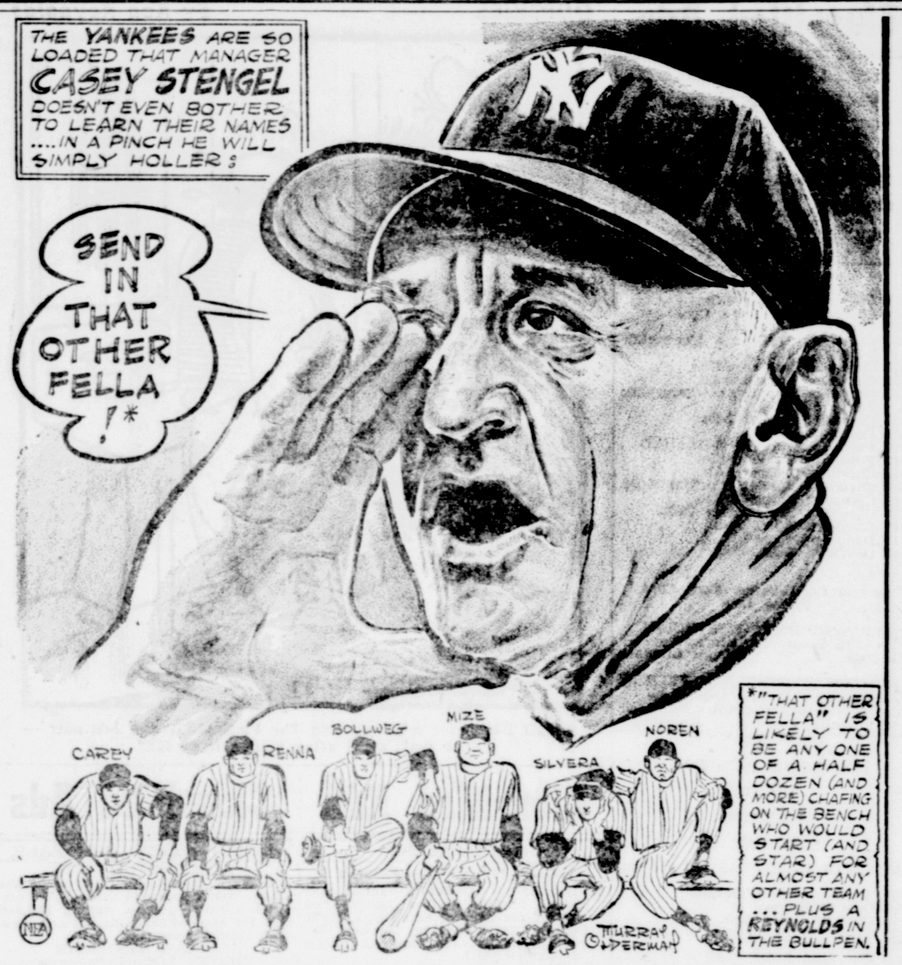

National Foot Comfort Week to Be Observed

"The automobile," says Dr. W. M. Scholl, internationally famous authority on foot ailments, "has certainly brought about great changes in our lives. But any idea that it has made any considerable difference in the amount of over-all walking done by the average man or woman is not borne out by the facts. The average homemaker, for example, still takes approximately 30,000 steps a day, the equivalent of over seven miles of walking."

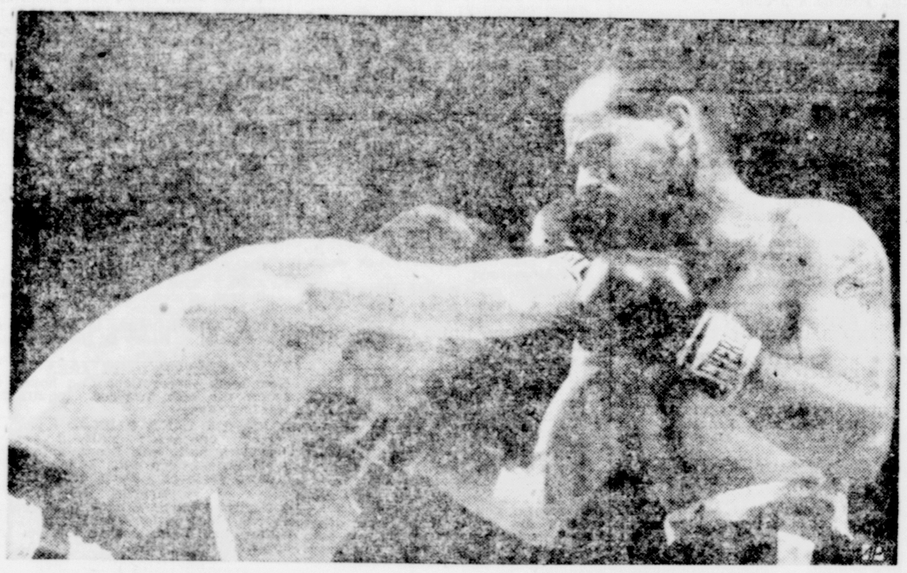

"The feet," Dr. Scholl continues," still have, and will undoubtedly continue to have, a big job to do and any departure, however slight, from a normally healthy foot condition should be corrected immediately. Few people realize that foot ills may, and frequently do, result in aches and pains in other parts of the body the true cause of which is unsuspected."

It is estimated that some 80 per cent of the women of the nation suffer from some form of foot trouble, largely due, says Dr. Scholl, to the fact that women all too often wear shoes that are easy on the eyes, but not so easy on the feet. Men do not have the "vanity" problem to the same degree, but the incidence of foot ailments among American males is still high.

During Dr. Scholl's Foot Comfort Week thousands of drug, shoe, department and variety stores throughout the United States will cooperate in calling attention, by means of special displays and demonstrations, to the importance of proper foot care, and to helping their customers obtain relief from painful foot conditions.

Tangle for American Middleweight Title

Paddy Young, left, of New York goes into a crouch as he tangles with Carl "Bobo" Olson of Honolulu in first round action of their scheduled 15 round bout for the American middleweight title in New York's Madison Square Garden. Olson won a unanimous decision and will meet England's Randy Turpin for the world's title.

Rubber Companies

Goodyear, has raised his estimates of passenger car tire sales by three million since his predictions of last November. He believes the auto industry will turn out six million cars this year, giving an original tire demand (including spares) of 31½ million. He expects replacement sales to be around 49 million, as previously estimated, and export sales to hold around one half million. To these total sales of 81 million, he adds a year-end inventory of two million tires. The 83 million total production would be 12 per cent higher than last year, he says.

Although the tire industry entered the big-sales season with inventories higher than in 1952 or 1951, Firestone spokesmen say stocks are now in normal relationship with sales.

Inventories Are Subnormal

They point out that in the two preceding years, "tire inventories were subnormal because of the tremendous over-buying of tires by motorists in the summer of 1950, a scare that the Korean War would bring back tire rationing."

Firestone, too, expects "record high consumption of rubber this year and a demand for more than 100 million tires." It has been producing tires at a capacity rate on a six-day basis all this year.

Increased military buying of trucks and truck tires has led Thomas to raise by one million his estimates of total truck tire sales this year to 16 million tires. The Goodyear president's guess of a total tire production of 99 million, is a little more conservative than others in the industry.

Will Sell Replacements

B. F. Goodrich, for instance, thinks the industry will sell 50 million replacement tires for passenger cars this year (one million more than Goodyear's guess). Last year the industry provided 45½ million replacements.

Truck tire replacements will rise moderately to nine million units, B. F. Goodrich expects.

Looking farther ahead, B. F. Goodrich predicts that by 1960 there will be 65½ million motor vehicles registered, 54 million of them passenger cars. To service them, the industry would sell around 66 million replacement tires.

Red Women Seek Money

Hong Kong (AP)—Press reports say the Chinese Communists have issued an increasing number of round-trip tickets to women crossing into Hong Kong from Red China to demand money from their relatives here. The independent Kung Sheung Daily News estimated 300 women and children, mainly from the towns of Toishan and Sunwui in Kwantung province made up most of the recent influx.

Benincase Escapes Serious Injury in Bakery Explosion

Thomas P. Benincase, of 14 Center street, an employe of the New York Bakery, 39 East Union street, escaped serious injury yesterday when excessive oil blew up the bakery furnace as he was turning on the burner.

Firemen were called at 6:10 p. m., and reported that the force of the explosion blew the furnace off its footing, blew a smoke stack from its top and a section of elbow from the pipe line.

Benincase said he was struck by the elbow, but escaped with only bruises of the legs. The blast caused smoke and soot in the building, but otherwise caused no serious damage to the interior. Damage to the furnace was repaired.

Other Blazes Checked

A call at 5:24 p. m., Saturday was for a fire in the car of Sophie R. Dales, of Arlington, Vt. It was started by an overheated motor and caused little damage.

Another call at 4:55 p. m., yesterday was for a fire caused by a short circuit in the starter switch on the car of E. R. Craig, 14 Schryver Court at that address. Damage was slight.

Firemen were called at 8:03 p. m., Sunday for a fire on the dump near Devil's Lake.

Not So Worried Now

In another field, Sen. Knowland (R.-Calif.) said in an interview he is not so worried as he was several weeks ago that a "major scandal" may develop in the handling of U. S. military equipment he said was piling up on the docks in Indochina.

"I think there is need for a continuous check on this situation, though," said Knowland.

The committee heard reports of alleged corruption, racketeering and black marketing in Indochina.

Youth, 17, Gets 60 Years for Slaying

New City, June 22 (AP)—Carlton Mason, who will be 17 years old tomorrow, today was sentenced to 60 years to life imprisonment for the recess-time slaying of two little girl schoolmates.

Mason was sentenced by Supreme Court Justice Arthur D. Brennan.

The youth showed no emotion upon hearing his fate.

Last Monday, Mason pleaded guilty to second degree murder in the killing of Esther Nagy, six, in the woods behind the Lakeside School at Spring Valley, last March 8. The school is an institution for underprivileged children.

He has not been prosecuted on the charge that he also killed Marjorie Boudreau, eight. The youth entered no plea in that slaying.

The Nagey girl, was stabbed to death. The Boudreau girl was strangled and her head crushed with a rock.

Mason gave no motive for the killings.

Authorities said Mason will be taken late today or tomorrow to the Elmira Reception Center for subsequent transfer to a state prison.

The penalty for second degree murder, under New York state law, is 20 years to life.

Rubber Companies

Goodyear, has raised his estimates of passenger car tire sales by three million since his predictions of last November. He believes the auto industry will turn out six million cars this year, giving an original tire demand (including spares) of 31½ million. He expects replacement sales to be around 49 million, as previously estimated, and export sales to hold around one half million. To these total sales of 81 million, he adds a year-end inventory of two million tires. The 83 million total production would be 12 per cent higher than last year, he says.

Although the tire industry entered the big-sales season with inventories higher than in 1952 or 1951, Firestone spokesmen say stocks are now in normal relationship with sales.

Inventories Are Subnormal

They point out that in the two preceding years, "tire inventories were subnormal because of the tremendous over-buying of tires by motorists in the summer of 1950, a scare that the Korean War would bring back tire rationing."

Firestone, too, expects "record high consumption of rubber this year and a demand for more than 100 million tires." It has been producing tires at a capacity rate on a six-day basis all this year.

Increased military buying of trucks and truck tires has led Thomas to raise by one million his estimates of total truck tire sales this year to 16 million tires. The Goodyear president's guess of a total tire production of 99 million, is a little more conservative than others in the industry.

Will Sell Replacements

B. F. Goodrich, for instance, thinks the industry will sell 50 million replacement tires for passenger cars this year (one million more than Goodyear's guess). Last year the industry provided 45½ million replacements.

Truck tire replacements will rise moderately to nine million units, B. F. Goodrich expects.

Looking farther ahead, B. F. Goodrich predicts that by 1960 there will be 65½ million motor vehicles registered, 54 million of them passenger cars. To service them, the industry would sell around 66 million replacement tires.

Red Women Seek Money

Hong Kong (AP)—Press reports say the Chinese Communists have issued an increasing number of round-trip tickets to women crossing into Hong Kong from Red China to demand money from their relatives here. The independent Kung Sheung Daily News estimated 300 women and children, mainly from the towns of Toishan and Sunwui in Kwantung province made up most of the recent influx.

Vault Removed From Old Bank

Workmen remove the main vault from the downtown site of the Rondout National Bank. The modern new 105-year-old banking establishment opened officially today at 9 a. m. at Broadway, corner of Henry street. A feature of the new bank is a drive-in window for automobile patrons. (Freeman photo).

Not So Worried Now

In another field, Sen. Knowland (R.-Calif.) said in an interview he is not so worried as he was several weeks ago that a "major scandal" may develop in the handling of U. S. military equipment he said was piling up on the docks in Indochina.

"I think there is need for a continuous check on this situation, though," said Knowland.

Benincase Escapes Serious Injury in Bakery Explosion

Thomas P. Benincase, of 14 Center street, an employe of the New York Bakery, 39 East Union street, escaped serious injury yesterday when excessive oil blew up the bakery furnace as he was turning on the burner.

Firemen were called at 6:10 p. m., and reported that the force of the explosion blew the furnace off its footing, blew a smoke stack from its top and a section of elbow from the pipe line.

Benincase said he was struck by the elbow, but escaped with only bruises of the legs. The blast caused smoke and soot in the building, but otherwise caused no serious damage to the interior. Damage to the furnace was repaired.

Other Blazes Checked

A call at 5:24 p. m., Saturday was for a fire in the car of Sophie R. Dales, of Arlington, Vt. It was started by an overheated motor and caused little damage.

Another call at 4:55 p. m., yesterday was for a fire caused by a short circuit in the starter switch on the car of E. R. Craig, 14 Schryver Court at that address. Damage was slight.

Firemen were called at 8:03 p. m., Sunday for a fire on the dump near Devil's Lake.
